AMERICAN, BRITISH DESTROYERS IGNORE ORDERS OF JAPANESE INVADERS HAD SOUGHT TO WITHDRAW FOREIGNERS FROM SWATOW HARBOR

SHANGHAI, June 22.—(AP)—Two American and two British destroyers stood by in Swatow Harbor late today despite a Japanese order or suggestion that foreign warships and nationals withdraw from that newly-captured South China port.

Foreign naval forces were doubled during the day and except for departure of 20 British women and children the American and British communities stood pat.

Japanese and occidental accounts differed as to nature of the Japanese communication. British naval quarters said foreign ships had been "ordered" to leave Swatow harbor by 1 p. m. (11 p. m. Wednesday, CST). A Japanese naval spokesman in Shanghai said only "the usual warning" had been given foreigners to leave a zone of "possible hostilities."

British informants agreed Admirals Harry E. Yarnell, commander of the United States Asiatic fleet, and British naval authorities had rejected the Japanese communication, whatever its exact nature. Yarnell on his flagship, the Cruiser Augusta, was at Chinwangtao, North China.

The United States destroyer Pillsbury, which remained during yesterday's Japanese occupation, to protect 40 Americans at Swatow, still was in the inner harbor and was joined today by the destroyer Pope.

The British destroyer Scout also arrived and anchored in the outer harbor, supporting another British destroyer, the Thane, which shared yesterday's watch with the Pope.

The Pope brought Captain John T. G. Stapler, commander of the U. S. navy's South China patrol, who had been watching the situation at another Japanese-occupied station, Amoy, where the Japanese navy is blockading.

REVISION OF REGULATIONS OF NATIONAL LABOR BOARD FAILS SATISFY CRITICS WAGNER ACT

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(AP)—Revision of labor board regulations failed today to satisfy some critics of the Wagner Act, and as a result further changes appear imminent.

The board's decision to permit employers, like unions, to ask for collective bargaining elections in certain instances brought these developments.

Senator Ellender (D-La.) predicted further revision of the board's rules, including a proposal to assure both employers and workers at least 10 months of freedom from union disputes between unions.

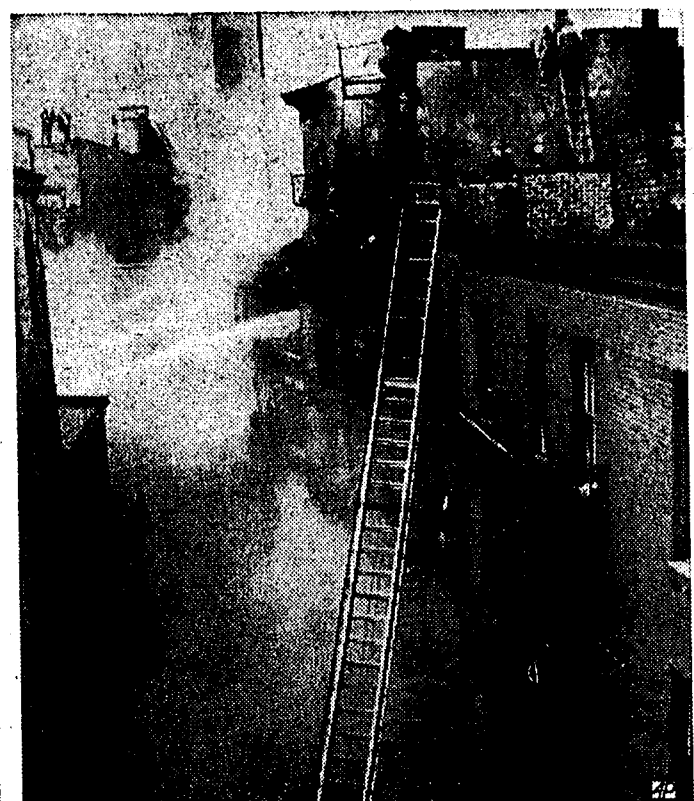

Two house members who declined use of their names said the house would be asked to authorize an investigation of the labor board, despite the procedural changes, with a report next January on proposals for altering the Wagner Act.

The AFL renewed its demands for changes in the act. Joseph A. Padway, its general counsel, hailed yesterday's revision as "an AFL victory," but said the federation wanted all its proposed amendments written into law.

CIO leaders made no formal comment, but let it be known they were opposed to the revision.

EARL K. LONG WILL BECOME GOVERNOR OF LOUISIANA NEXT WEEK

BROTHER LATE KINGFISH TO SUCCEED LECHE WHO ANNOUNCES RESIGNATION

BATON ROUGE, La., June 22.—(AP)—An unheralded change in Louisiana governors that will elevate Lieutenant Governor Earl K. Long, brother of the late "Kingfish" Huey P. Long, but the state in a political whirl today.

Governor Richard W. Leche announced last night he would resign next week, with nearly 11 months of his term unexpired. As lieutenant governor, Long will succeed automatically.

Although Leche gave ill health—two severe arthritis attacks—and his immediate reason, observers noted the announcement followed days of almost continuous conferences and paralleled a federal investigation of WPA activities in the state.

The fiery, quick-tempered, 48-year-old lieutenant governor, whose career has included a rival support and bitter denunciation of the late Senator Long, immediately rushed to New Orleans for political conferences. He issued a statement he would carry on the fine work done in the past ten years under my brother, Gov. O. K. Allen and Richard W. Leche.

The unexpected developments threw several ambitious former lieutenants of Huey Long and supporters of his still-intact political machine into dismay since they were preparing to run for governor next January. As incumbent, Long would hold a distinct advantage.

Two already have announced, one as an outright foe of the administration, and the other as a supporter.

FLOODWATERS FROM WEST TEXAS DELUGE MOVING DOWNSTREAM

RED AND COLORADO RIVERS TURNED INTO RAGING TORRENTS BY RAINS

By The Associated Press.

Floodwaters of the Colorado and Red Rivers swept toward the Gulf of Mexico today and little additional damage was expected unless there are more torrential rains.

The Red River flood crest passed Burkburnett, Tex., without damaging either the highway or railroad bridges into Oklahoma there. Only minor damage to lowland farms was expected downstream from that point.

At Vernon, the swollen Pease river was falling rapidly and little damage resulted. Highway and rail transportation in that region of Northwest Texas was being restored to normal.

The crest of the Colorado flood passed Robert Lee, 60 miles south of Colorado City, where heavy damage was done Tuesday, without serious overflow. A few small houses near the river were surrounded by water.

Travel over highway 370 at Vernon was resumed late yesterday. Heavy rains were clear today although the weather bureau at Dallas predicted additional thunderstorms in parts of East and West Texas.

Electric reported train and bus schedules returning to normal after rains totaled nearly three inches since Sunday.

CIVILIAN EXPERT CONDEMNS VALVES ON U.S. SUBMARINES

CLAIMS RESCUE 33 GREATEST ENGINEERING FEAT EVER COMPLETED

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., June 22.—(AP)—A civilian expert in submarine construction—the only one of three non-navy men who survived the Squalus disaster—recommended today that the ventilating equipment of every United States submarine be changed in the interest of safety.

Testifying before a naval board of inquiry into the tragedy which claimed 26 lives, Harold C. Preston, a naval architect who had participated in tests of every submarine built at the Portsmouth navy yard in 22 years, declared he did not consider the present type of air induction valve efficient or effective.

Previous witnesses told the board they believed failure of the Squalus main induction valve caused the disaster.

Preston explained it would be impossible to close one of the present inboard valves manually with water coming in because "a man couldn't even get near it he would be swept away by the water and couldn't do a thing."

"They are not in fact emergency valves because they are no good when water is coming in, and they are when we have an emergency," he added.

Preston said he believed rescue of 33 members of the Squalus crew, including himself, from 240 feet of water with a diving bell "constituted the most efficient engineering project ever undertaken and completed in the world."

LONGEST TEXAS LEGISLATIVE SESSION ON RECORD ENDED

NEW STORMS ARE BREWING AS TO FUTURE OF TAX-PENSION PROGRAM

AUSTIN, June 22.—(AP)—The longest Texas legislative session on record was history today but in its wake new storms were brewing.

They probably will break within the next few months, regardless of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel's actions. If he calls a special session, there will be much wrangling on a means of extracting more money from the pockets of the taxpayers. If he stands firm in his decision not to do so, controversy will develop on whether he has done his duty toward financing the big old age pensions he promised last summer.

Lawmakers reached the end of the 163-day session last night with slightly more than the required one-third of the house membership holding out against the constitutional sales tax urged by the governor. O'Daniel and the senate affairs committee successfully opposed the statutory tax measure passed overwhelmingly by the house.

Taxation for larger pensions, inauguration of other social security program and assistance to the depleted general fund was the principal issue throughout the session. O'Daniel, contended the two house bills, neither of which embodied a general sales levy, would not get the job done. Foes of his program argued the house omnibus bill would provide almost as much revenue for the state as the constitutional amendment and the general fund overdraft did not require immediate attention.

Pension Liberalization Bill.—The legislature passed and the governor signed a pension liberalization bill, which already is in effect. The extent of which the new law will enlarge the rolls, however, is not yet known. The question of whether the federal Leonard was at one microphone arguing for the revision. Darden went to another to ask Leonard a question. Leonard "yielded" for the question.

"Now, Mr. Thornton," Darden began.

Leonard smiled and bowed. Darden choked, corrected himself to say "Mr. Leonard" and continued with the question.

A minute later he took a big breath and in firm voice fired a point at Leonard, again addressing him as "Mr. Thornton."

The house laughed.

Later Darden explained. "I've thought about E. H. Thornton so much I can't keep from calling him name," he said.

Darden was a bitter opponent of the constitutional amendment. Thornton, Galveston, a leader for the amendment.

Flying Cadet At Kelly Field Was Fatally Injured

SAN ANTONIO, June 22.—(AP)—Flying Cadet Loran E. Fairfield, 28, South Portland, Maine, student pilot at Kelly Field, today was fatally injured in an accident during a training flight in the vicinity of Helotes, near here.

He and cadet Robert W. Evans, a senior student pilot, were in a formation led by Lieut. W. W. Arling, instructor, on an acrobatic and accuracy mission.

At the time of the accident the formation had been flying a lufbery circle and were coming out of the circle into a "V" formation.

The plane piloted by Evans was reported to have flown into the tail of the ship piloted by Fairfield, sending it out of control.

Fairfield was reported to have jumped and to have landed safely with his parachute, but a ground crew arrival of the scene found him dead.

After the collision Evans attempted to fly his plane back to Kelly Field but was unable to land in a field about a half mile from the airfield. He was uninjured.

MILESTONE IN PREVENTION OF BLINDNESS REACHED BY GIVING SULFANILAMIDE NEWBORN BABES

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE Associated Press Science Editor.

MILWAUKEE, June 22.—(AP)—A milestone in preventing blindness, by giving sulfanilamide to newborn babies, was reported today by the American Association for the advancement of science today.

This new drug, given in milk, acts like magic in clearing eyes of all signs of gonococcal inflammation, the "Ophthalmia neonatorum" which has been the most common cause of blindness.

Within two or three days after the sulfanilamide, the babies eyes are to all appearances well, and on the face of the records in the short time since this new remedy became available, the cures are complete.

This new treatment has been tried, it was stated, in all parts of the country, with good reports everywhere. The sulfanilamide, product of the synthetic dye industry, promises to write the final chapter in a medical battle to save babies' eyes which began with the start of this century.

GOVERNOR O'DANIEL FINDS LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM WRECKED

RODE INTO TEXAS GOVERNORSHIP ON HILL BILLY MUSIC, PENSION PROMISES

AUSTIN, June 22.—(AP)—Radio-orating W. Lee O'Daniel, flour salesman who rode to the Texas governorship on hill billy music and promise of $30-a-month pensions to all Texans over 65 years of age, today found his legislative program a mass of wreckage.

Adjournment of the longest session of the legislature in state history yesterday after an intransigent minority crushed efforts finally to pass an O'Daniel-blessed constitutional amendment to finance bigger pensions, revealed the lawmakers ignored virtually all of their governor's desires.

The heaviest blow to the O'Daniel chief executive was burial of his revenue plans to support expanded pensions. The legislature, while voting a cent of new taxes despite previous action opening the doors to 50,000 or more additional pensioners.

After the legislators abandoned O'Daniel's drastic 1.6 per cent transition tax recommendation, the business man-governor, on his regular Sunday radio broadcasts, advocated the senate-spawned amendment which would have submitted to the people a 2 per cent sales and service tax plus a 25 per cent increase in levies on oil, gas and sulphur.

Despite his caustic criticism of the plan's opponents and sentimentality interspersed argument all hammered out via radio—the proposal repeatedly failed to reach the necessary two-thirds majority in the house of representatives. On one test, however, it lacked but five votes.

In his initial address to the legislature, the governor deviated from his campaign pledge and asked pensions be provided only to those over 65 who did not have an income of $50 a month or more.

The plan eventually adopted fell short of that roll-swelling suggestion but did loosen eligibility requirements, the extent of which is

TEXAS AGRICULTURE COMMISSIONER ASKS WALLACE TO RESIGN

MCDONALD JOINS WISCONSIN ASSEMBLY IN DEMAND SECRETARY QUIT

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(AP)—J. E. McDonald, Texas commissioner of agriculture, who has disagreed violently with administration cotton policies, joined the Wisconsin assembly today in a demand Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace resign.

At a press conference yesterday McDonald said Wallace should step out unless he could "recognize his failure and offer something better" and that the secretary had "demonstrated his inability to solve the cotton problem."

Referring to questions about "re-entrenchment" developments, Wallace told reporters, they should be fruitful for the welfare of the country. Our enemies often times help us more than our friends do. He said the state and agriculture departments would act at this session to change all our foreign trade policies, despite reports he had no intention of giving up his post.

McDonald, an advocate of the domestic allotment plan, made public the existing $2,500 exemption for married persons to $2,000 and the present $1,000 exemption for single individuals to $800.

Treasury experts have estimated the La Follette amendment to lower existing income tax exemptions would yield about $66,000,000 of additional revenue each year.

The chamber acted shortly it had rejected by a tie vote of 38 to 38 a proposal by La Follette to impose stiffer income levies on middle-bracket incomes.

On the vote, Vice President Garner could have broken the tie, but he was not in the chamber.

The amendment would have revised the present schedule of income surtaxes.

La Follette proposed a schedule starting at 4 per cent on incomes between $3,000 and $4,000 and ranging up to 75 per cent on incomes over $5,000,000.

The surtaxes, which are imposed in addition to the normal 4 per cent rate, now range from 1 per cent on incomes between $4,000 and $8,000 to 75 per cent on incomes over $5,000,000.

Taxes on incomes between $3,000 and $100,000 would have been increased substantially under the La Follette plan.

KING GEORGE AND QUEEN ELIZABETH REACH HOME TODAY

GREAT WELCOME GIVEN THE ROYAL COUPLE ON RETURN FROM TRIUMPHANT TOUR

LONDON, June 22.—(AP)—London's loyal millions gave a tumultuous welcome to King George and Queen Elizabeth today as they returned to the capital from a six weeks tour through Canada and to the United States.

The royal couple arrived at Waterloo station at 5:24 p. m. (10:24 a. m. CST.) aboard their special train from Southampton and drove slowly in an open carriage through streets lined with wildly cheering subjects.

SAUTHAMPTON England, June 22.—(AP)—King George and Queen Elizabeth returned to British shores today from their glittering North American tour amid the cheers of thousands of proud subjects.

Their Transatlantic liner, the Empress of Britain, tied up at her pier, at 2:30 p. m. (7:30 a. m. CST.)

Beneath a drab and misty sky the king and queen gazed from the bridge of the Empress on a brilliant panorama of color beneath—waving flags and the pennants of smaller craft in the harbor and flower-decked welcoming arches.

Their two children, 13-year-old Princess Elizabeth and 8-year-old Margaret Rose, who had joined their parents at sea a few hours earlier, were on the bridge tugging with excitement at their father's arm.

Cheers and sirens made a terrific din as the king and queen waved again and again.

SENATE REJECTED PROPOSAL REDUCE TAX EXEMPTIONS

EFFORT TO MILLION ADD HALF LITTLE FELLOWS ON INCOME ROLLS FAILS

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(AP)—The senate rejected today a proposal to make 1,600,000 "little fellows" subject to federal income taxes.

The proposal, offered by Senator La Follette (Vog-Wis.) would have cut the existing $2,500 exemption for married persons to $2,000 and the present $1,000 exemption for single individuals to $800.

Treasury experts have estimated the La Follette amendment to lower existing income tax exemptions would yield about $66,000,000 of additional revenue each year.

FINAL MOMENTS OF LONGEST LEGISLATIVE SESSION SPENT IN SONG AND LIVELY REPORTE

AUSTIN, June 22.—(AP)—"Legislation brings me gladness. That words cannot imply; And my heart is filled with gladness.

This is the reason why." A little knot of men and women, boys and girls, is gathered about the piano in the big hall of the house of representatives; a fine tenor voice is singing.

Members of the house lool in their seats.

"Those legislative days, they have been a long one, and now the session is o'er. And all is said and done, I'll never regret, I'll never forget. The joys I have shared with you..."

Another male voice joins the refrain, and at the conclusion of applause sweep the huge chamber.

The leading singer is Rep. Henry Hull of Fort Worth—the boys call him "Salty" his partner in the act that representatives are enjoying so much is Rep. Lon E. Alsop of Carthage, who is blind.

"Lonnie" not only sings, the high tenor part, but also plays the piano—and does both well.

The house isn't satisfied with merely applauding, but wants to do more. So a motion is quickly made and adopted whereby the words of the song—Alsop's own

NEAR FOUR BILLION DOLLARS ASKED FOR AID TO BUSINESS

SELF-LIQUIDATING PROJECTS AND LOANS AMOUNTING $3,860,000,000 URGED

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(AP)—President Roosevelt proposed to congress today a $3,860,000,000 program for stimulating business through self-liquidating projects and low cost housing development.

The President estimated at least $870,000,000 would be disbursed in federal loans during the year starting July 1. The remainder of the program, split into six types of self-liquidating projects, would continue for from two to seven years.

The President said in the long run the program would not cost the taxpayers a cent so far as self-liquidating projects were concerned.

He outlined his proposals in a letter to Chairman Byrnes (D-S. C.) of the senate unemployment committee, and sent copies to other senate and house leaders.

Mr. Roosevelt explained there would be a limit on the self-liquidating projects of $3,000,000,000 over the two to seven years period which their construction would embrace and that as money came in from loans it would be put out again as needed to stimulate employment and business.

Another $800,000,000 would be added to the borrowing capacity of the United States housing authority, under the President's plan.

Low Cost Homes.

Mr. Roosevelt said he could not state how much of this would be used in the next fiscal year but that the money would be applied to providing low cost homes for persons with incomes in the $17-250 to $2,000 class. These are not covered by either the present slum clearance program or the FHA operations.

Meanwhile, Senator Mead (D-N. Y.) said he had support of Secretaries Morgenthau and Hopkins for "the general principle" of his bill to provide government backing for loans to small business.

He declared Hopkins probably would testify before the senate naming subcommittee considering the Mead bill—and suggest some amendments.

The Mead bill calls for insurance by the R. F. C. of up to 80 per cent of bank loans to small and medium-sized business.

Approval indicated.

Mead said he had discussed the insurance bill with Morgenthau and the treasury head "did not come out flat footed for it but indicated he favored by proposals."

Texas' house of representatives doesn't lay aside its serious duties, but there's one time it does. That time is the last few hours of the last day of a long general session.

The final day of the longest session of Texas legislative history was yesterday.

Someone shouts for Ernest Boyette, the house sergeant-at-arms, who specializes in persuading members to go to their seats when they are milling over the floor and order has to be restored.

Boyett appears.

"Oked," he says. "I'll give you the only speech I know: All those not entitled to privileges of the floor please retire."

It is his line made at the start of every daily session to send from the floor wives, visitors and what-not who are not entitled to be on the floor during house working periods.

The representatives know, however, Boyett has more than that routine. There are shouts: "Give us Jim Ferguson's speech."

SESSION AS LEGISLATURE ENDED WEDNESDAY

FORTY-SIXTH SESSION LAW- MAKERS FAILS PROVIDE PENSION FUND

AUSTIN, June 21.—(P)—As it must to all mortal activities, death today came to the longest Texas legislative session in history.

Lawmakers finally agreed on the longest day of the year for adjournment of a battle-scarred session more than any of its predecessors.

Wearied legislators failed twice yesterday to crack the deadlock in the house of representatives where an insistent group has refused to permit passage of the senate-born resolution which bears the unconditional approval of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel.

The proposal which would submit the issue to the people lacked only five votes of final passage at one point.

The senate sent the governor a measure which, if signed, will permit to all counties one-half of state ad valorem taxes estimated to amount to nearly $3,000,000 annually.

Opponents argued the state could not afford to lose the revenue with its general fund already $18,000,000 in the red.

A rural school aid conference committee report appropriating $13,651,854 the next biennium was approved by both houses, leaving only vocational school aid yet to be acted upon.

Other Activities.

Deeply overshadowed by the tax fight, activities of the legislature throughout the long session included:

Folding down tax money spending despite increasing demands, liberalizing pension eligibility, refusing to boost the truck load limit, passing the so-called "fair trade" act, smothering efforts to bring back leasing horses race betting, revising land laws intended to stop alleged "vacancy racketeering," approving a barbers' service price fixing bill vetoed by the governor.

Setting up a state-wide soil conservation plan, creating a department of public welfare, killing liquor sale by the drink, abolishing the offices of tax commissioner and reclamation engineer, permitting the planning board to direct, providing acquisition of the Big Bend State Park, tightening liquor law enforcement.

Offering $10,000 reward for a new use for cotton, making it tough for "hot check" artists, prohibiting soliciting of funds from aged persons in the interest of obtaining pensions for them or others, passing a self-governing bar bill, ratifying a compact with New Mexico over division of water of the Pecos, revising the unemployment compensation act reducing the tax for some employers.

Relief Bonds Refunding.

Permitting refunding of relief bonds saving the state $100,000 interest, borrowing $900,000 additional for pensions, protecting brown pelicans and javelinas, standardizing tomato grading, extending Texas' boundary in Sabine Pass, approving extension of the oil proration laws and Texas participation in the interstate oil compact.

The legislature rejected:

The governor's drastic transaction tax, request for a prison system investigation with business men on the committee, governmental and financial consolidation suggestions, desire for abolition of the death penalty, argument for his own budget director with the legislature choosing an auditor and a number of his appointees.

Proposals to revise the farm tenancy laws, establish new gas production regulations in the Panhandle, teach crime prevention in schools, authorize universal hunting and fishing licenses, raise tuition at the University of Texas medical school, abolish civil appeals courts, give free text books to private school students.

Consolidate 132 state departments into 18, provide civil service for state employees, levy a state income tax, abolish the liquor control board, keep Eufaula lake half-empty to guard against floods, force beer sales out of public dance halls and issue liquor-selling permits on a population basis.

The lawmakers overrode O'Daniel's veto of a bill designed to expedite appeals in law suits and created by resolution, after the bill had been vetoed, a commission for Texas co-operation in interstate problems.

Double Honors to Blind Member Texas Legislature Today

AUSTIN, June 21.—(P)—Shortly before scheduled adjournment of the Texas legislature, the house paid double-barreled tribute today to its veteran blind member, Lon E. Alsop of Carthage.

A resolution commending the late Texas for his service to the state during five terms in the house was adopted unanimously on request of Representative Henry Hull of Fort Worth.

Immediately thereafter the lower branch adopted a resolution to send a representative to the Golden Gate exposition at San Francisco for Texas days there Saturday and Sunday and Speaker R. Emmett Morse announced Alsop would be given that honor.

Alsop has attained a reputation as a "rigid economist" during three years in charge of the house contingent expense committee, which passes on miscellaneous expenses of the representatives.

"I wish I had thought to draw up a resolution lauding Mr. Alsop's economy," remarked Representative Homer Leonard of McAllen. "I'm out of stamps myself."

Almsmen's Probe Dead

AUSTIN, June 21.—(P)—A proposed bill which would have authorized legislative investigations of almsmen's institutions was

When sessions of the legislature was virtually killed today by the house of representatives.

The house sent the proposal to its contingent expense committee. Rep. Robert H. Wood of Marshall said it was the duty of the state board of control to make any needed investigation of institutions for the insane or other unfortunates.

AUSTIN, June 21.—(P)—A recent amendment to the medical practice act limiting issuance of licenses to American citizens was attacked in court here yesterday.

District Judge Ralph H. Yarborough set for hearing Friday an application for temporary restraining order and mandamus to compel the state board of medical examiners to permit Manuel Garcia-godoy of Juarez, Mexico, and part-time resident of El Paso, to take examinations for a license.

Governor O'Daniel Intimates Will Be No Extra Session

AUSTIN, June 21.—(P)—Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel informed the senate in a message today he would see the members again on "January 10, 1941."

There has been much speculation whether the chief executive would call a special session because of failure to adopt a taxing program for financing social security services.

The next general session would convene Jan. 10, 1941. The message was sent by a committee of senators named to inform the chief executive the senate had completed its work and was ready to adjourn.

Senator Jesse Martin of Fort Worth, chairman, said the governor asked commitment to express his appreciation to the entire senate for the intelligent and sincere efforts they gave toward solving the state's problems and wished them Godspeed with a parting remark he would "see us on Jan. 10, 1941."

The governor's remarks might be significant concerning his intention to seek re-election. He would not be governor at the convening of the next general session unless returned to office.

MANTON IS GIVEN MAXIMUM PENALTY CONSPIRACY CASE

FEDERAL JUDGE GETS TWO YEARS IN PRISON AND FINE FOR SELLING FAVORS

NEW YORK, June 20.—(P)—Martin T. Manton, former judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, was sentenced today to two years in a federal prison and fined $10,000. It was the maximum sentence possible under his conviction for conspiracy to sell judicial favors.

Manton was sentenced by Federal Judge W. Calvin Chestnut after making a sometimes fervid but dispassionate plea of over an hour to have the jury's verdict set aside.

Manton summoned a long array of legal arguments against the conclusion the jury reached June 3.

Even while Manton was pleading, the court where he formerly sat was reinstating for re-argument one of the major cases which figured on the charges of bribery and conspiracy. The court attributed Manton's conduct "which shocked the American public and more particularly the American bar and judiciary" to the jurist's efforts to re-establish his great personal fortune which had been threatened by the depression.

"In attempting to save this fortune," Judge Chestnut said, "the defendant, one of the highest judicial officers of the United States government, violated the most important features of his high office. All public officers are a public trust, but a judicial office is more—it is a sacred trust."

George M. Spector, insurance broker, tried and convicted with Manton, was sentenced to a year and a day and fined $5,000.

Sentences Deferred.

Sentencing of three co-defendants who pleaded guilty was deferred until after the luncheon recess.

The case reinstated by the circuit court of appeals was the mandamus entered in the patent infringement suit of the Schick Dry Shaver Company against Dictograph Products Company.

The Schick decision, holding there had been no infringement of Schick patents by Dictograph Products, has been the precedent for numerous decisions in federal district courts throughout the country.

Abraham Tullin, general counsel for Schick, moved for the recall order, and asked the court to annul the mandate for all proceedings which resulted from it on the ground that the decision itself was a nullity.

During Manton's trial testimony by government witnesses indicated the late Archie M. Andrews, head of Dictograph Products, paid about $50,000 to George M. Spector, insurance broker, who was convicted with Manton. The money, the government contended, ultimately found its way into the account of the Forest Hills Terrace Corporation, which Manton controlled.

ACTIVE CAMPAIGN IS PLANNED CAPITALIZE ON HOT WATER WELLS

CHAMBER COMMERCE SEEK-ING $75,000 FOR INITIAL PROJECT OUTLAY

Letters of endorsement from leading business and professional men and pertinent data about Corsicana's hot mineral water are being compiled into a prospectus by the chamber of commerce preparatory to a whirlwind 30-day campaign to raise $75,000 for the development of a spa here.

Present plans call for the chartering of a corporation to be headed by a man who is experienced in managing health centers and who will be willing to make a substantial investment. He will share in some of the profits as pay for his managing the bathhouse. R. W. Knight, chamber of commerce secretary-manager stated in an interview today.

Mr. Knight said the $75,000 will be divided and spent as follows: Ultra modern bathhouse with built-in fixtures and equipment, $40,000.

Real estate—preferably in downtown district near hotels—$3,000.

Reworking old well and piping to bathhouse or drilling and casing new well, $10,000.

Working capital $3,000.

Wading pool and advertising $14,000.

"All the information we have compiled concerning the proposition," Mr. Knight said, "points conclusively to the fact that based on an expenditure of $75,000, the health center will pay substantial dividends to those who put money into it. Several of Corsicana's outstanding business and professional men, have wholeheartedly endorsed the proposal and have pledged subscriptions. President J. M. Dyer of the Chamber of Commerce has said he will start the campaign with a subscription of $1,000," Mr. Knight said.

At the present time, Mr. Knight explained, the promotional efforts are being directed by the executive and industrial committees of the chamber preparatory to the actual forming of a corporation.

LEGISLATURE

government will continue pension participation under the new law also is an unanswered question. Desperate efforts to bring about submission to the people of a sales-natural resource tax constitutional amendment in line with O'Daniel's views continued until the session's closing hours. An attempt even was made to revive House Joint Resolution 18, which had been killed months ago by a majority vote.

The last indirect vote on senate Joint Resolution 12, the measure which the governor had endorsed specifically, showed 93 yeas and 56 nays whereas a two-thirds majority was needed. The largest vote proponents of the sales-natural resources tax plan were able to muster in these house trials was 95. Speaker R. Emmett Morse would have voted with them to make the required 100 if they had ever soared to 99.

The successful battle waged by house enemies of the governor's measure meant no taxation constitutional amendment can be submitted until 1941. Statutory tax proposals would be the only ones subject to consideration at a special session.

The session ended on a bitter note as an aftermath of the final communication received by the house from the governor.

"To the small minority of members who failed to settle the matter (social security financing) according to their own personal ideas," Daniel said, "and then refused to permit the sovereign voters of Texas to decide this question, I can only refer you to the people of Texas for what- ever expressions they may care to make."

The communication was handed to the committee appointed to notify the governor the house was ready for sine die adjournment.

While all of the legislators' work except the final typing and checking of bills was completed by mid-afternoon yesterday, the session did not end officially until 8:34 p. m. only a few members stayed for bawling of gavel.

Rep. E. H. Thornton of Galveston, chief sponsor of the sales-natural resource tax constitutional amendment, voiced opinion of the legislature eventually would provide some sort of a broad base tax such as a sales levy to support social security.

"The people are going to have to realize," he said, "that if they want services from their government they must pay for such services."

Rep. Eugene Worley of Shamrock, who supported the governor's tax plan, expressed resentment at the final O'Daniel blast against enemies of that plan.

"The governor," he said, "should accord the right to every member of the legislature to vote his honest convictions."

Worley said also that if O'Daniel wanted to tax the people's interests "he should call a special session because otherwise they are certain to escape additional taxation for two more years."

Highlights of the session included:

The legislature cut department appropriations ten per cent and refused increases in other appropriations except those for rural school aid and vocational education. The appropriations measure have not yet been signed by the governor.

The unemployment compensation tax was materially cut, effective January 1, 1941.

A statewide soil conservation plan was adopted.

The legislature passed a general tax remission bill, now on the governor's desk for his signature or veto.

The lawmakers finally broke a long filibuster and passed the so-called fair trade act, which awaits the governor's action.

A law revising the land vacancy statutes in the interest of the land occupants was enacted.

Measures tightening regulation of mutual assessment insurance associations and reciprocal insurance exchanges were passed.

A self-governing bar law was enacted.

The legislature passed a bill tightening liquor law enforcement but including a provision a precinct in a dry county may vote wet. The bill remains to be acted on by the governor.

Union Representative Praises Minority

AUSTIN, June 22.—(AP)—W. H. Gallagher, legislative representative of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, said in a statement today "hundreds of thousands of wage earners" were rejoicing because 58 members of the house of representatives "had the courage and stamina to protect the legislative branch of the government from usurpation of its powers by the governor."

Referring to a house group which consistently refused to approve the O'Daniel espoused plan of fleecing social security taxes by submission of a constitutional amendment, he added:

"There is no provision in the constitution which permits the governor to do this."

Gehrig Probably Never Play Ball Again--Paralysis

NEW YORK, June 21.—(AP)—Ed Barrow, president of the New York Yankees, announced today that Lou Gehrig is suffering from chronic infantile paralysis and probably will never play baseball again.

Barrow's statement came after Gehrig had turned over to him the formal report made by Mayo Clinic experts. Gehrig had spent several days in the clinic in order to have a thorough check made of his physical condition.

The one-time great first baseman had been worried about his condition all year. After making a bad showing in the field and at bat during the early part of the season, Gehrig voluntarily benched himself May 2, thus ending his consecutive games streak at 2-130 games.

He sat on the bench for several weeks but could not regain his strength. Finally he decided to put himself in the hands of experts to determine just why he had lost his baseball form so suddenly. His trip to the clinic followed.

Barrow said Gehrig apparently had been suffering from the ailment for two years and that only his remarkable physique had enabled him to play.

The veteran will be continued on the Yankee payroll for the rest of the season at least and will remain as non-playing team captain.

Barrow said he understood from the physicians' reports that the disease could be checked and that in any event it probably would not get worse.

Barrow said the first baseman would not play again this year but indicated there was an outside possibility he could return to the game eventually. Gehrig was 36 years old Monday.

Plans Completed For Girls Softball League In County

Plans for a district county girls' softball league were completed Tuesday, and the opening games are scheduled to begin next week.

The teams announcing their entries are Corsicana, Streetman, Richland and Hubbard. Any other teams wishing to participate in the league are asked to contact J. D. Richardson, A.A.U. softball commissioner, at the YMCA.

The schedule will be announced the latter part of the week.

FINAL MOVEMENT

Boyet grins, launches into a story of how he was in a deep East Texas town one day and ran across former Governor James E. Ferguson campaigning. Then he "delivers" Ferguson's speech. The members laugh and cheer.

No Monument Needed.
Someone sends up a poem on old age pensions, a parody on "Beautiful Texas". It is read by the reading clerk.

A representative rises to suggest to Rep. Homer Leonard of McAllen, acting as speaker in the temporary absence of Morse, that a monument be erected to the memory of S. J. R. 12," which was killed by the house as a final act before adjournment.

"Don't need a monument," cracks Leonard. "We'll just put down a 'x' to mark the spot!"

A committee sent to notify the senate the house had completed its labors and was ready to adjourn sine die returns to the house to report. The committee included the only women members of the legislature, Reps. Margaret Harris Gordon of Waco and Beville H. Coulson of Navasota.

Mrs. Gordon makes the formal report on its visit to the senate and Acting Speaker Leonard illustrates respectfully. But when she has finished, he speaks:

"Now let us hear from the other woman member of the committee," he says, rapping for order. "Two women never agree. Let's hear her story."

A messenger appears with a document which is handed to the reading clerk. The clerk solemnly begins to read a "proclamation" from Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel.

"I hereby call a special session—the clerk reads. Some members rush to the rostrum to look at the document. Press correspondents go up but not in a great hurry; they have heard that one before.

One points out that the seal is that of the clerk of the house, not of the governor of Texas. There is a laugh all around.

More songs. More jokes, everyone is having a good time. It is the last day of a long, long session.

N. T. A. COLLEGE TO STAGE SUMMER COTTON SCHOOL

ARLINGTON, June 21.—(Sp1)—The Summer Cotton School, which is sponsored each year by the Department of Agriculture, North Texas Agricultural College, will be held this year for a two-week period beginning June 26, according to D. H. Kibler, head of the department. These short courses, which are offered in co-operation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Texas Cotton Ginner's Association, Texas Cotton Association, and the Texas Cotton Growers Association, have been made popular by the increasing necessity of buying cotton on true merit, and aim to give an intensive course in grading and marketing cotton. H. W. Thompson of the Division of Cotton Marketing, U. S. Department of Agriculture, will again be senior instructor in the school. He will be assisted by Mr. Elgers of M. Hohenberg and Co., Dallas, and other representatives of the cotton trade. Speakers of state and national reputation will be heard during the school. Dates of their appearance will be announced later.

The course, though designed primarily for beginners is being planned to include others who may be interested in obtaining information in grading and marketing cotton. A large number of representatives of the cotton trade of North, East and Central Texas are expected to be in attendance.

Shower Was Given For Recent Bride In Blooming Grove

Honoring Mrs. Herschel Minstra, formerly Miss Evelyn McClure, a miscellaneous shower was given at the home of Mrs. John Brown Thursday, June the 12th at 4 o'clock with Mrs. Earl Brown and Mrs. Edward McClure as hostesses.

The living room was beautifully decorated with garden flowers. Mrs. Bessie Spencer received the guests. Miss Clara Jane Phillips was in charge of the registration. Mrs. Earl Brown served at the punch bowl.

Upon the arrival of the bride Mrs. C. C. Isbell, with her accompaniment, played "Here Comes the Bride", after which Miss Emma McClure, sister of the honoree, sang "I Love You Truly".

Mrs. G. E. Ramsey, Sr., was in charge of the entertainment. A number of games and jokes were played. Three clothes pin treasure adventures were made, the third one being the bride's adventure. She was instructed to go outside and search among the parked cars until she identified a certain car number, finding no treasure in the car she returned to the living room to continue her adventure. Upon her return she found many lovely and useful gifts surrounding her vacant chair. In conclusion a toast was drunk to the girl left behind by Miss Ruth Griffin. A toast to the bride by Miss Jean Crawford.—Contributed.

Freak Ear of Corn Displayed Tuesday

A freak roasting ear was brought to the Daily Sun office Tuesday afternoon by Miss Vivian Elle Graham of 1051 West Tenth avenue. The tip of the ear was soft and shaped to resemble the hoof of an animal or a cupped human hand.

Plans Completed Fall Fair And Rodeo In October

Plans for the second annual fall exhibitions of the Corsicana Livestock and Agricultural Show, October 3 to 7, were outlined at a meeting of the board of directors of the organization held Tuesday morning in the First National Bank.

The board authorized the issuance of a new catalog for the new show which will contain all rules and regulations and prize lists.

President J. N. Edens was also authorized to proceed with the erection of a fence around the grounds according to a plan developed during the spring which is expected to eliminate most of the congestion at the gates which slowed proceedings last year.

Directors A. F. Mitchell and Fred M. Allison were instructed to prepare a plat of the fair grounds and definitely locate spaces for the various attractions to be presented.

After some discussion, plans were adopted for enlarged exhibits in the poultry, Hereford, Boys Beef Clubs and other units of the fair. A committee of three composed of W. E. McKinney, E. M. Polk, Jr., and Robert Cooksey was named to prepare an official pass list for the show which is to be approved by President Edens before the credentials are issued.

The board also announced that the band of the Sam Houston State Teachers College at Huntsville had been designated the official musical organization for the fall show and would supply music for parades and rodeos.

W. E. McKinney, rodeo chairman, reported a net profit of $200 after all expenses had been paid on the spring rodeo season despite very unfavorable weather.

WEEKEND SHUTDOWNS OF TEXAS OIL FIELDS TO BE CONTINUED

AUSTIN, June 20.—(P)—The Texas oil industry today faced continuance of field shutdowns eight days per month during July, August and September by order of the Railroad Commission.

That body yesterday said the basic production allowance next month, after deducting for the closures, would be 1,362,158 barrels daily, a slight increase over current allowable.

Not considering the shut-ins, the July 1 allowable would be 1,789,270 barrels daily compared with 1,740,576 June 1 and 1,752,027 June 12 the commission stated.

The order, signed only by Commission Chairman Lon A. Smith and Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson, exempted from closures the fifth Saturday and Sunday of July and the fifth Saturday of September.

The third commissioner, Jerry Sadler, has said he opposed issuance of an order for a period longer than 30 days and asserted he believed Texas should open up after Aug. 1 with certain other states cooperated more closely with this state in holding down production.

Daily allowables, not considering shutdowns, for the months of July and August, by districts, were listed as:

Southwest Texas, 307,047, 307,611 and 307,674; Gulf Coast, 271,823, 271,885 and 271,947; East Central, 111,639, 113,798 and 110,630; East Texas, 522,632, 522,718 and 522,668; West Central, 65,846, 68,807 and 67,231; West Texas, 248,463, 252,164 and 271,798; North Texas, 22,457, 123,820 and 127,820; Panhandle 89,702, 89,954 and 90,026.

Because of its tri-state character the Redessa field was exempted from the closures. Orders as were a number of other fields due to their physical characteristics.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR DICK HENDERSON ARE HELD WEDNESDAY

CORSICANA, TEX., JUNE 23, 1939

NATIONAL HIGHWAYS

Transcontinental superhighways built by the federal government and operated on a toll basis are not feasible, reports the Bureau of Public Roads of the Department of Agriculture.
The tolls would not bring in half enough money to support them. So vanishes that dream of a national gridiron of main roads.

The Bureau, however, suggests various things that can be done for the practical relief of traffic congestion on a national scale.
The biggest problem is that of the cities. Express highways should be built through big cities, with beltline distribution routes around them and by-passes around small towns. A system of better inter-regional highways could be established by modernizing and improving present travel routes.

Many cities can provide local improvements themselves, and are doing so.
Knowledge of how to solve complex traffic problems grows rapidly. The main problem now is not the engineering, but finding the money to pay for it. The federal government lately has been providing the bulk of such funds, and may continue doing so.

AUTO PULLMAN CAR.

Many people who like the idea of modern "gypsy wagons" have not been satisfied with the way it has been worked out so far.
They consider the trailer awkward and troublesome, for anyone who wants to travel light and unimpeded and still have his equipage serve for lodging when necessary. One automobile manufacturer has provided a car which, without deviating much from the normal, provides a sort of Pullman berth for two passengers. But that does not profess to be a complete solution for tourists who want to be able to stop, sleep and eat where-ever they feel like it.

There are plenty of ingenious people, however, thinking about the problem. An interesting prophecy was presented the other day by Edwin L. Allen at an automotive engineering congress in New York. He painted a picture of the "automobile of the future" as a home rather than a mere vehicle.

"We will walk up to our car," he says, "push a button, and the door will open.
The seats will be light, movable chairs and the floor will be wide and flat.
The roof will be of tran-slucent material admitting the healthful rays of the sun without glare. Pushbuttons will regulate the temperature and humidity.
A pressed button will unfold a concealed bed. Many little conveniences for passengers will be installed, such as toilet and lavatory facilities and simple cooking. The driver will be able to telephone direct to home or office. Movable controls will permit driving from any seat. And all this will be provided with very little increase in length of the car, and no increase in height.

It sounds wonderful.
Bring 'em along!

Hitler tells German veterans of the World War that Germany was unprepared even for adequate defense in 1914. No doubt that is why the high command carried all the fighting into foreign territory
—Belgium, France, etc.

JUST FOLKS

(Copyright, 1937, Edgar A. Guest)

HE SNEERED AT US

He sneered at us Americans, as though What's wrong and right we are too young to know.
The tyrant called us all a foolish lot.
Then turned and ordered twenty fellows shot.
"They talk too much and much too loud," said he,
"I'll teach such fools that silent they must be!"
He sneered at us Americans! His poor Stood in long breadlines at the soup house door;
He sneered at us! His childhood had no shame,
He had a million schoolboys bearing arms.
He had old men compelled to heavy tasks
And all the babies wearing poison masks.

He sneered at us! His people when they spoke Whispered their words and never told a joke
All that makes people happy had been killed.
Force spoke the word and laughter had been still.
He sneered at us! Then listened to his spies
And shot his friends to prove that he was wise.

WAR STORES.

The German people are in need of many of the simplest necessities of life.
Laboring patiently, for long hours and full weeks, they get but little for it in material satisfactions and comforts. But the army is well provided for. Nearly everything in the way of national effort seems directed to that end.

"Supplies of food and raw materials are practically on a war-time footing," says a recent dispatch from Berlin. "Food hoarding has been undertaken on a gigantic scale.
Canneries, day in and day out, are putting up meats, vegetables and fruits as reserves. Beside food, gasoline, copper, nickel, textiles and dozens of other commodities essential for the conduct of war are being stored. The food shortage experienced by the average citizen reflects the scale on which the state is accumulating stocks for the army to live on."

Presumably there is as liberal provision for guns and planes as for the troops themselves. The Nazis obviously are making vast war preparations.
Does the Nazi command really expect to fight another great war, in spite of the rising tide of resistance and countless warnings? It is hard to believe that Hitler and his associates can be so rash as to try to break through the iron ring now being forged around the "axis" countries, and take what they want of the outer world's riches. Especially if Russia is added to the defensive circle, and with resources far inferior to those of 1914, how can they hope to win?

THE SWISS WAY

Switzerland's "living space" is very restricted, in comparison with some neighboring countries. Its only natural resources are beautiful scenery and abundant water. Lacking oil and iron and coal and other underground wealth, its territory is not coveted by the "have-not" governments which seem determined to become "have's" by the aggression route.
This next-door neighbor to countries that were belligerents in the World War, and appear to be working up to another gigantic conflict, has not engaged in any foreign war for 400 years. The Swiss people seem to have the recipe for independence and peace.

These and other facts the Swiss are telling about themselves and their country in their pavilion at the eastern world's fair. To people weary of the constant bickering, threatening and aggression of some European governments, the Swiss story is appealing.

From recent presidential polls, it's hard to tell whether the people want a man who would do everything, or undo everything, or sleep through it.

Every week or so now somebody discovers a plot whereby somebody else is going to steal the country away from the rest of us when we're not looking.

"ONE ON THE HOUSE!"HEBREW WALL AGAINST JAPS

An interesting proposal to help solve the Jewish problem now puzzling so many nations is a tentative suggestion to settle 30,000 German exiles on the island of Mindanao, in the Philippines. This is the principal southern island of the archipelago, almost as large as Luzon itself. It offers plenty of room, together with a fertile soil and rich iron, coal, chromium and timber resources.

There is shrewdness as well as philanthropy in this suggestion. Some 20,000 Japanese are already settled on Mindanao, and their numbers and influence are growing. A healthy Hebrew colony, it is said, might be the best way to combat Japanese influence there.
The Japs are disliked and feared by the natives because they form a compact unit and do not mix with the native population.
Jews, it is believed, would have more racial tolerance and democracy. They might not make such good farmers as the Japanese, but would surpass them in business ability and would raise the cultural level of the island.

It is a problem primarily for the Filipinos themselves, but Americans have a natural interest in it.

Really the British and American flags don't look so bad together, when you once get used to the idea.
They're both red, white and blue. And now don't call the Union Jack a double cross.

"It's dreadful for people to wear so little clothing as they're doing this summer," says an observer,
"because that will inevitably drives them to wearing too much again."

Believe it or not, lawmakers work about as hard as anybody. They've got to, in a country whose national motto is "There ought to be a law."

Volcano trouble in Alaska again. Seems as if they'd have a right nice climate up there if they could only use their volcanic heat.

Yes, "the more things change, the more they remain the same." Hitching posts are merely replaced by parking meters.

Congress and state legislatures might get along better if they had old-fashioned "moderators" for presiding officers.

As usual, the British appreciate our hospitality but are baffled by our dialect.

FREEDOM OF ART

Cuba's pavilion at the New York fair contains a mural which ought to attract much attention. Mayor La Guardia gave his approval before the picture was unveiled, so everything is probably all right.
The painting shows a rhumba dancer wriggling to the music of a most amazing string trio. President Roosevelt is shown playing a fiddle. New York's mayor a bull fiddle, and Grover Whalen a guitar. The audience is composed of other famous persons. Among the pleased faces the observer finds Hitler, Mussolini, Chamberlain (holding an umbrella), Goering, George Bernard Shaw, Charlie Chaplin, the King of Italy, Gandhi and Haile Selassie.

It certainly suggests that the artist was having fun with somebody. So far there have been no demands that faces be painted out, as was done at Rockefeller Center when Diego Rivera put a famous Communist's portrait in a prominent position in a mural. Nor has anyone protested the whole scene as false and belittling, as did Puerto Rico when it considered itself insulted by a Rockwell Kent mural in the new postoffice building at Washington.

We can take it! We don't mind letting art have a little freedom, even though it wasn't specifically mentioned in the Bill of Rights.

Recent Bride Was Honoree of Shower Thursday Afternoon

Mrs. James Runnels, who before her recent marriage was Miss Frances Marsh, and a graduate of the class of '39 of the Corsicana High School, was the honoree of a miscellaneous shower on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Terry Sutton on North Twenty-first street, with Mrs. Sutton and Mrs. C. W. Roe as co-hostesses.

The home was made attractive with bouquets of zinnias, gladioli and other early summer garden flowers.

When all had assembled two contacts were enjoyed in which Mrs. Manning and Mrs. Guyne won the prizes, which they presented the honoree. Keith Crowley sang two very beautiful and appropriate songs, after which the shower gifts were presented Mrs.
Runnels.

After she had opened the many packages and thanked the donors for the lovely gifts, the hostesses served brick ice cream and angel food cake to the 30 present.

Miss Bessie Lee Smith presided over the bride's book.
Called to Kentucky,

Barry Association In Annual Meeting At Cameron Park

Sunday, June 18, the Barry Association met at Cameron Park, Waco, for their annual reunion honoring Hon. Essick Barry of Meridian. Mr. Barry, who is ninety years old, is the oldest descendant of the Barry clan living in America. His father, Col.
Buck Barry, came to Texas in the days of the War for Independence. He was a friend of President Sam Houston, serving as a Texas ranger during Houston's administration. He was also known in early Texas history as an Indian fighter, protecting the homes of many families of Bosque, Coryell and McLennan counties.

Sharing the honors with Mr.
Barry were his sisters, Mrs. Sallie Shelton of Walnut Springs and Mrs. Ramsey Cox of Waco.
After a basket lunch at the noon hour, the acting president of the association Merrill Barry of Houston, presided over a business meeting and program of songs, readings and talks. The following officers were re-elected for the next year: Merrill Barry of Houston, president; Richard Allen, of Waco, vice-president; Miss Myrta Clarkson of Waco, secretary; Miss Sue Ann Barry of Houston, historian, and Mr. Richard Allen of Waco, treasurer.

There are more than two hundred descendants from all parts of the United States who are registered and each adds to the interesting history related by early settlers. Col Barry's grandfather came to America in 1782 with his father, settling in Virginia among the earliest colonists of that section. There were only seventy members of the clan present this year, and they were from all over the state—Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth, Waco, Tyler, Brady, El Campo, Meridian, Mexia, Meridian, Walnut Springs were among the cities represented. Those from Corsicana who attended were Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Church and Miss Stella Barry, Miss Elizabeth
Church of Dallas and Mrs. Odell Blackwell of Tyler, formerly Miss Frede Barry of Corsicana, were also present. Miss Faye Ashmore of Corsicana and Miss Louise Wheeler of Tupelo were visitors to the reunion of this illustrious family.

Child Injured In Auto Accident On Highway 75 North

the Taylors were riding was reported to have figured in a collision with another automobile.
The child received severe cuts on the face and nose, but his condition was not regarded as serious.

OPEN HOUSE FOR WPA WILL BE HELD MONDAY, JUNE 26

The Works Progress Administration of Navarro county announces open house for Monday, June 26, on the second floor of the natatorium building in Corsicana. The hours will be from 3 to 5 and 7 to 9 p. m.

The Corsicana and Navarro county public is cordially invited to inspect the many phases of this organization.

The purpose of the open house is to give the people of the county and the city an opportunity to see what is being accomplished by the WPA project.

Geese Now Used To Weed Cotton Arkansas Sector

BLITHEVILLE, Ark., June 20.
—Mother geese used to undermine the kiddies. Now they help their fathers in the fields of this heavy cotton producing section.

Farmers of Western Mississippi country are letting flocks of geese weed out their cotton instead of having it chopped by hand—and they report material savings.
For instance, Sam Price who owns 67 acres near Meridian, figures his 35 geese have saved him $40.50 in chopping wages already this year.

Rainy weather? The feathered weeders love it. They'll eat grass 16 hours a day, rain or shine.

sident, who now resides in Mertens, spent Wednesday of last week with old friends here, he was accompanied by his daughter, Rena Mae.

Miss Winona Ethridge is in Dallas for an extended visit to her uncle, Willie Fletcher and family.

Sam Ross of Tulsa, Okla., is spending his two weeks vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs.
Hunter Ross.

Miss Louella Norris of Houston is spending the summer months with her mother, Mrs.
Jackson Hammett.

Shirley Ann Taylor has returned from a week's visit with her father James Taylor in Austin, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs.
J. M. Taylor of San Marcos.

Mrs. E. M. Westbrook, and daughter Betty Belvin of Bryan are spending a few weeks in their lovely home here.

FORT WORTH CROWD FORCES NEGRO FAMILY TO FLEE FROM HOME

FORT WORTH, June 20.—(AP)
—Police today were keeping watch over a house, recently occupied by a negro family, where a crowd of about 500 persons gathered last night, forcing the family to flee the premises, windows and furniture in the home.

In a hospital, DeWitt Brown, 30, who walked past the scene on his way home from a store, was being treated for injuries sustained when he was struck in the chest with a baseball bat.

Police were again called to the house at 9 a. m., today after receiving a call to the effect brow-ers had entered the house and were damaging it. Investigators found several youths had turned on the water, gas and lights and then fled.

The first violence came at 11
p. m. Otis Flake, the negro owner, and his family fled before the crowd raided the house, throwing stones.
Ten men, three of whom were from the State Highway Department and a car from the sheriff's office were at the scene but had not mobilized their forces before the raiders entered the house.
Furniture was carried into the yard and smashed.

By midnight the crowd had begun to disperse.

A POWERFUL INSTRUMENT OF DIAGNOSIS AND HEALING

The German physicist, Wilhelm Konrad Rontgen, produced the first X-rays within a special vacuum tube. The rays emanating from this tube possessed the quality of penetrating wood, flesh and other opaque substances, leaving a shadow graph upon a photographic plate. Since that time the X-Ray apparatus has been perfected by a number of scientists to a high degree of efficiency. As a therapeutic agent and diagnostic instrument it is an indispensable part of modern medical practice.

Where the trouble is deep-seated X-Ray treatment after surgery often is utilized to prevent recurrence. The X-Ray specialist is meeting with success in treatment of cancer, some skin diseases, tumors, goiter, enlarged thymus glands, Hodgkins disease (a disease of the lymphatic system), Lankens (a disease of the bone marrow), some types of tuberculosis infections and sinus infections.

With the fluoroscopic screen of the X-Ray the physician can watch the stomach and other organs in action. Through X-Ray pictures and the fluoroscope he can locate foreign bodies, get a true picture of fracture conditions and in coun-less other ways simplify medical diagnosis and surgical procedure.

A new use for the X-Ray fluoroscopic screen is the searching of criminals and their visitors for hidden saws, files, knives and weapons. Penitentiaries, jails and custom houses are equipped, at the individual before the screen and any metal object will show on the screen.

proposed self-liquidating projects into these six groups:
First, under new federal works agency, loans would be made for such self liquidating projects as water works, sewage disposal plants, bridges and hospitals.

Second, under this program, Mr. Roosevelt said, is $300,000,000 and the government would put out $150,000,000 in the first year—starting July 1. The program would last two years.

Third, railroad equipment projects. The President said he believed it would be better for the government to create an authority to lease equipment to the carriers, with the government retaining title to it. He proposed a $500,000,000 ceiling and the use of $100,000,000 in 1940.

Fourth, under the agriculture department, rural electrification would be expanded to reach at least 1,250,000 rural families, about 5,000,000 people, not now receiving electricity and not likely to in the near future. A seven years program with a $400,000,000 ceiling was suggested with an outlay of only $20,000,000 in 1940.

Fifth, under the farm security administration, expansion of the purchase of farms for tenant farm-lands of $250,000,000 in 1940.

Sixth, foreign loans to promote American foreign trade were put down for $500,000,000 for two years with $200,000,000 going out in 1940.

Mr. Roosevelt explained proceeds of these loans would be spent in the United States and would be used for development and reconstruction purposes in foreign countries.

Letter Was Reply to Byrnes

The president's letter to Byrnes was in reply to one in which the senator had asked the president's opinion on earmarking the use of $125,000,000 of relief funds for the Public Works Administration.

Byrnes requested the president to advise him what effect this transfer of money from WPA to PWA would have upon employment.

Mr. Roosevelt told reporters he thought the program he was outlining was a much better way of approaching the problem of work projects.

TO STICK WITH WAITRESS JOB

Carol Woodman, step-daughter of Dr. James Rowland Angell, president emeritus of Yale, takes an order at the Wee Cottage Inn, Krumville, Pa., where she has taken a job as a waitress. She left Smith college three weeks previous and said she would "stick with" her job through the summer.

Mr. Roosevelt explained proceeds of these loans would be spent in the United States and would be used for development and reconstruction purposes in foreign countries.

Letter Was Reply to Byrnes

The president's letter to Byrnes was in reply to one in which the senator had asked the president's opinion on earmarking the use of $125,000,000 of relief funds for the Public Works Administration.

Byrnes requested the president to advise him what effect this transfer of money from WPA to PWA would have upon employment.

Mr. Roosevelt told reporters he thought the program he was outlining was a much better way of approaching the problem of work projects.

Announcement of the new program climaxed several weeks of study by government experts on what could be done to stimulate business and employment. Yesterday Secretary Ickes advocated that the relief bill, pending before the senate appropriations committee, be amended to provide $500,000,000 for public works under the PWA.

Revolving Fund

Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the democratic leader, believed the proposal would provide new uses of revolving funds of existing lending agencies and that it might be added to the relief bill.

Some administration fiscal advisers have proposed a lowering of interest rates, particularly on housing loans; removal of other limitations on various lending agencies, grants for self-liquidating projects, and creation of a federal corporation to build and lease equipment to railroads.

Opposition to liberalizing existing federal credit to stimulate business and industry has come not only from bankers, but some RFC officials who have expressed doubt of its need.

Ickes' request for another PWA fund was made before a senate appropriations subcommittee at a closed hearing on the 1,735,000,000 relief bill.

Chairman Adams (D-Colo.) said Ickes appeared at the committee's request and that the PWA administrator made it clear he spoke only for himself.

O'DANIEL

About the only O'Daniel request the lawmakers granted was his plea for acquisition of a huge amount of acreage in mountainous West Texas bordering the Rio Grande for state park purposes. A method of purchasing the land through public subscription was provided.

His policy of economy was observed only in that departmental appropriations were slashed, although growing school enrollments boosted over-all tax money spending.

Beyond that, the governor's recommendations were rejected.

Ad Valorem Tax Remains

His request to abolish state ad valorem taxes fell on deaf ears. However, many counties were granted tax remissions.

After he appointed a new tax commissioner, the legislature abolished that office. O'Daniel said later he wanted the office eliminated anyway.

The senate rejected two of his appointees to the important highway commission chairmanship, one of them Carr Collins of Dallas, possibly his closest friend, and failed to act on a third. The fourth was confirmed. His first choice for life insurance commissioner likewise was turned down.

O'Daniel proposed consolidation of a number of state agricultural agencies and combining of 55 treasury funds. Both suggestions were rejected.

Buried was his request to let him appoint a budget director with the legislature, instead of himself, naming the state auditor.

Political-minded Texans eagerly await O'Daniel's next radio address.

Lobbying Inquiry

Court Is Postponed

AUSTIN, June 22.—(AP)—A court of inquiry into lobbying activities during the recent general session of the legislature was indefinitely postponed today.

Peace Justice Sam Rogers granted a continuance after F. L. Kuykendall, attorney for son, investigated, ordered by him on an explanation Governor W. Lee O'Daniel had instructed somebody had violated lobbying rules.

Kuykendall said many of the persons summoned lived out of town and because subpoenas were served only two days ago they had not had time to assemble the necessary data.

He served notice that if the state legislature beginning the inquiry he would ask time to prepare a motion attacking the "sufficiency of subpoenas and jurisdiction of the court."

He added the summons did not show exactly the purpose of the court, although he read in the press it was "to investigate only those favoring S. J. R. 12."

He said the inquiry was a constitutional matter, submitting a constitutional sales tax which died on the legislative calendar after the house repeatedly rejected it.

Holt said purpose of the inquiry was to investigate "all forms of lobbying."

No one has been charged with crime," he said.

"The inquiry was to investigate matters out of which charges might grow."

Sick and Convalescent.

Cliff Donohoe was taken to the P. and S. Hospital Wednesday afternoon in a Corley ambulance for surgical attention to a long gash in the left side of his throat. He was later able to return to his home.

Mrs. A. C. Bentley of Purdon is a patient in the P. and S. Hospital and was scheduled to have an operation Thursday afternoon.

E. M. Griffin of Barry was scheduled to have an operation this afternoon at the P. and S. Hospital.

Colonel Cherry of Trinidad had an appendectomy Tuesday morning at the P. and S. Hospital.

L. P. Forsythe who had an operation recently at the P. and S. Hospital, was resting nicely today.

the international settlement of Kiangnan.

The Japanese spokesman denied any time limit had been attached to the Swatow "warning" which was distributed yesterday to foreign consulates here. However, foreign officials said it was not received until two hours after the Japanese had announced complete occupation of Swatow and cessation of hostilities there.

Counter Measures

May Be Employed

LONDON, June 22.—(AP)—A government spokesman declared today continuation of the Japanese blockade of the British and French concessions at Tientsin "will obviously lead to counter measures" by Great Britain.

He said, however, the British government still hoped Japan would agree to terminate the dispute on a local basis.

The government attitude was revealed further in a telegram by Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax to the British consul-general in Tientsin, E. G. Jamieson, asking him to inform British subjects there that Britain would make every effort to protect their interests.

At the foreign office it was said no report had been received on yesterday's talks in Moscow between British and French envoys and the Soviet premier-foreign commissar. Officials declined to comment on the Soviet communiqué which asserted progress had been made in negotiations.

British officials still awaited a Japanese reply to inquiries as to Tokyo's intentions concerning the Tientsin blockade, now in its ninth day with the far eastern situation further complicated by the Japanese occupation of Swatow, on the South China coast.

United States Blunt

In Reply to Japan

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(AP)—The United States government has bluntly informed Japan that, instead of clearing out of Chinese harbors its warships may stay in these ports "as long as long as American citizens are in need of protection or assistance."

Told by the Japanese to take the destroyer Pillsbury out of Swatow, Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, chief of the Asiatic fleet, flatly refused. He went even farther, the navy department disclosed today, and brought in another destroyer, the Pope.

The gunboat Asheville will follow from Hongkong.

Some 40 Americans are at Swatow, which south China port with had transferred millions of dollars worth of war materials to Chinese forces before the Japanese occupied it yesterday.

The navy issued the following statement:

"The navy department has been informed that Admiral Yarnell (commander in chief of the Asiatic fleet), informed the senior Japanese naval authorities that the permanent duty of the United States naval vessels is for the protection of American citizens and to go wherever it is necessary at any time to carry out that mission and to remain in such place as long as American citizens are in need of protection or assistance."

The navy revealed that, far from withdrawing the destroyer Pillsbury from the port of Swatow as demanded by the Japanese, the navy had sent another destroyer—the Pope, which has arrived at Swatow. The Pope is a sister ship of the Pillsbury; they are of the World War period.

Tientsin Blockade

Apparently Lighter

TIEN-TSIN, June 22.—(AP)—Sudden appearance of British Blue-jackets today halted Japanese ex-amination of cargo being discharged by British lighters while blockaded British further were heartened by a message of sympathy and hope from the London government and the ending of the milk shortage.

These developments occurred on the ninth day of the Japanese blockade of the British and French concessions.

The message from Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax to Consul-General E. G. Jamieson, expressed the government's sympathy to the blockaded British "for the difficulties and indignities they are being made to suffer."

Lord Halifax pledged the government's aid make every effort to terminate the present crisis as soon as possible.

The British consulate-general disclosed a new series of incidents in which it charged Japanese gendarmes forced Britons to undergo indignities and insults.

Eight Britons involved

It said eight Britons were involved, some of whom were stripped naked and examined in full view of Chinese coolies and women passersby while the passport of one was stuffed into his mouth.

Consul-General Jamieson protested to the Japanese consul-general against the attempt to search the British lighters tied up at the bund.

The anti-British campaign meanwhile spread to Peiping, where a mass meeting, to be followed by a parade, is to be held tomorrow.

The Japanese-controlled press announced students, merchants, and minor government officials had been instructed to take part.

Newspapers arranged to issue special anti-British supplements tomorrow while the Japanese-controlled central broadcasting station will observe "anti-British day."

Fresh milk entered the British and French concessions today in sizable quantities, relieving the shortage. Only a few isolated complaints of inability to obtain milk were reported.

PRESIDENT REPORTED OPPOSED WPA THREE MAN BOARD PROGRAM

ALSO DISLIKES EARMARK-ING PUBLIC WORKS FUNDS
IN RELIEF BILL

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP)—President Roosevelt was reported on Capitol Hill today to desire two major changes in the house-approved relief bill—elimination of a proposed three-man WPA board and removal of a provision earmarking $125,000,000 for public works.

The president's views were said authoritatively to have been expressed in a conference yesterday with Senate Byrnes (D-S.C.) and Col. F. C. Harrington, the WPA administrator.

A senate appropriations subcommittee called Harrington for testimony on the $1,735,000,000 relief measure today. It expects to send the bill to the senate at the end of the week so it can be finally enacted before June 30, when the existing WPA appropriation runs out.

Appearing at the closed subcommittee hearing, Harrington told reporters "the main change" he wanted in the relief bill "is to get back that $125,000,000."

He said if that sum were earmarked for PWA it would mean a reduction in relief rolls during the fiscal year starting July 1 from the projected 2,000,000 monthly average to 1,830,000.

Senators who talked with Byrnes said the chief executive had recommended any funds for PWA should be appropriated separately rather than included in the relief bill.

Chairman Adams (D-Colo.) of the appropriations subcommittee, along with Byrnes, expressed opposition to the three-man board proposal and predicted it would be stricken out by his committee.

Byrnes told reporters he would offer an amendment to compel states to finance at least one-third the cost of all PWA projects within their boundaries.

Inclusion in the house relief bill of bans on political activity brought a prediction from Acting Chairman Celler (D-N.Y.) that the house judiciary committee would make "drastic changes" in the Hatch bill to forbid political coloration by government employees or with federal funds.

The bill is much too stringent in its present form, Celler said. "Behind, now that the relief bill has passed, there's little need for the Hatch legislation."

Celler said he would suggest to

Father Shoots Child In Order Go to Heaven

CHARLESTON, Pa., June 20.—(AP)—Little Ada Young lay near death today, victim of a bullet wound State Motor Policeman J. C. Conway said her 35-year-old father admitted inflicting "in order that I may go to heaven."

Conway reported Clair Young, coal miner and parttime evangelist, the committee that it approve substitute legislation extending the present civil service bans on political activity or those on relief.

Young's 30-year-old wife and 75-year-old mother rushed into the living room after hearing the shot and found him standing over the limp body of the child.

"I felt I had to sacrifice in the eyes of the Lord in order that I may go to heaven," Conway said the man muttered.

District Attorney J. C. Bane, who said Young was a patient at a state mental hospital six months of last year, ordered the miner held without formal charge pending outcome of the baby's wounds.

OLD AGE NEEDS MORE THAN PENSIONS TO SWEETEN DAYS *

The Irrevocable Past of a Life is its Prize or Penalty at the End—One Hero's Meditations At Sunset Time—Only Youth Can Insure Age.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

Last month Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, celebrated its fiftieth anniversary, amidst the plaudits of the medical profession. Dr. Howard A. Kelly, the distinguished gynecologist and Bible teacher, the only survivor of the world-famous "Big Four" of Johns Hopkins, stood and Kelly—made a speech in which he said, "The spirit which prevailed at Hopkins is responsible for the elevated position it has reached in the world—not the scientific achievements, but the spiritual quality." He closed with a ringing appeal to his hearers to live the Christian life.

Milady, who as a pupil nurse worked with the famous four and their distinguished associates, was present to attend the fortieth reunion of her class. She came home thrilled and glowing with the experience. In quiet talk we recalled how Johns Hopkins is dominated by Thielwald's heroic white statue of the compassionate Christ, which stands in the rotunda. It was there that the veterans gathered for their informal reminiscences. Incident after incident was recalled of the spiritual quality of those early days; and of the deeply religious character of the men who made the hospital famous.

Light at Eventide

As with an institution, so also is it with a man. Spiritual qualities abide to shed their blessings at eventide. The life that has been lived in God-awareness and in His service, has peace at its end. We are fortunate to have this lesson upon the review of his life by Paul the aged, a great servant of God and man who, at the close of crowded years, met death at the headmaster's axe serenely.

All the land is a clamor over old-age pensions. We seem suddenly to have become aware of the gravity and magnitude of this difficult problem of the aged. Yet none of our pension schemes—some of them fantastic—touches the real issue of old age. No legislature can devise a plan for making the closing years of a life serene; they can only furnish physical security and comfort.

Youth and young manhood alone can provide a contented old age. The life that has been lived, the deeds that have been done, the thoughts that have shaped character—these determine the happiness of the period that is dominated by memories. A full and noble life is a better inheritance than riches. I shall never forget a scene in Madison Square Garden, back in the nineties, at a Christian Endeavor Convention, when a young woman in white stood before the assembled thousands and sang,

"Only remembered by what I have done."

It was a thrilling challenge to youth to live a full life.

In the Club Chairs

One of the pathetic sights of the great cities are the group of old men sitting and snoozing in luxurious arm chairs in the expensive clubs. They are through with real life; and, though they shrink from saying so, they are really only waiting for the arrival of the undertaker. The rural counterpart is the old men loafing in the country stores and squares. Their lives have not been such as to fill the closing years with sunshine and service. The grim irrevocableness of their lot fairly makes one shiver.

How different the final stage of the life of Paul. He had crowded his years with adventurous and pioneer service. His life was full of precious personal contacts. He lived in his work and in his associations. The master passion that had dominated him in his earlier years still burned brightly. His own soul was so strong and serene that it was impervious to all hardships; in chains he was still a conquering hero. He would die, but his work lived.

Without Fear of Death

I once saw an octogenarian, a noble man, in whose eyes was the terror of death. The end was approaching and he knew it, but he was afraid to die. The supreme mystery of the grave appalled him. He had not learned to say, with Paul the aged, "For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain." Paul confessed himself in a strait twist two—the desire to depart and be with Christ, and the desire to abide and continue to serve his friends and his Master.

Paul had done a work that would live for ages after his old gray head had rolled in the dust of the Apollon Way. Therein we have a clue for youth to follow. Early to give one-self to a cause that will abide; to have created something constructive in the world; to have lived for high aims and noble achievement; to have refused to be content with mere existence and transitory pleasures—that insures an old age of peace, whatever hardship may attend it.

Today is always followed by tomorrow. The content of tomorrow will be the achievement of today. Life accumulates. So the person who, like Paul, fills his today to the brim with life and service, finds himself in old age drinking from an overflowing cup. Memory then, instead of being the handmaiden of remorse, becomes the minister of peace and gladness. The matchless hero whose life we have been studying for three months beckons us to live greatly in the now.

Ambitions at the End

Like old Caleb, Paul was ambitious to the very end. He was content with his lot, but not satisfied with himself. He was not willing to sit complacently before the mirror of his past achievements. "Not that I have already obtained, or am already made perfect; but I press on." There is no limit or end to the achievements of the Christian, in character and in conduct.

A dear old lady past seventy, whom I loved, had a passion for self-improvement. She read helpful books. From periodicals she was forever clipping suggestions for better ways to doing things—and especially cooking—and of correcting faults and acquiring virtues. She was bound to grow better as she grew older, after the fashion of Paul.

Paul's overmastering passion was Jesus Christ. For Him, and in Him, he lived. He found Christ sufficient for two worlds. Listen to the triumphant paean of this battle-scarred old warrior, in the last of his writings left to us:

"I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith: Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous Judge, shall give me at that day; and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing."

O'DANIEL LOBBYING CHARGES TO BE AILED IN COURT INQUIRY

AUSTIN, June 21.—(AP)—Charges by Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel some lobbyists had violated legislative rules governing their activities had grown today into a court of inquiry ordered by County Attorney Paul Holt.

The sheriff's office reported last night 15 or 20 subpoenas issued had been served on witnesses summoned to appear in Justice Sam Rogers' court at 9 a. m. tomorrow.

The governor has insinuated somebody violated lobbying rules and if such regulations have been violated, I think we should know about it," Holt said.

Deputies said they had served subpoenas on former Gov. James E. Ferguson of Austin, G. R. Kennedy, oil company representative; H. A. King, oil company representative; E. A. Berry, oil company representative; Andrew Howsley, oil and gas attorney; C. A. Jay,

kept the faith: Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous Judge, shall give me at that day; and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing."

Some time ago the house adopted a resolution calling for a legislative investigation of lobbying but the senate thus far has failed to adopt it. The proposal was authored by Rep. J. Bryan Bradburn of Abilene, uncompromising opponent of the sales-natural resource tax constitutional amendment which has been advocated by the governor.

Opponents of the tax proposal repeatedly have charged natural resource and utilities corporations generally favor it because it limits taxes for social security.

O'Daniel said in a radio address Sunday, however, that he knew of no special interest which was seeking the resolution's adoption.

Father Dies, Son To Face Charges In His Slaying

KERMIT, June 21.—(AP)—District Attorney William H. Korr today prepared murder charges against Hollis Scarborough, 41, son of 71-year-old W. F. Scarborough, wealth Texas and New Mexico ranchman and oil man who died last night of bullet wounds.

The elder Scarborough was shot at his ranch home near here Monday and the son waived examining trial on a charge of assault to murder and was jailed yesterday in default of $25,000 bond set by J. B. Salmon, justice of the peace.

No motive has been announced. Scarborough owned ranches in Winkler, Loving and Andrews counties, Texas, and Lea county, New Mexico. He lived at Midland, Texas, and maintained homes at his ranch near here and at Rudisco, N. M.

Highway And Railroad Bridges Washed Away; 300 Driven Out Homes

By the Associated Press

West Texas cloudbursts today claimed one life and sent the mighty Colorado river at Colorado City on one of its worst rises in history, carrying away four bridges and menacing another.

Ollie Morrow, 60, former Snyder busman, was drowned last night when he was swept from a bridge during a flash flood at Snyder, Scurry county. Damage was unofficially estimated at $250,000 in Snyder.

Thirty-five miles southwest of there, at Colorado City, the Colorado, fed by cloudbursts, carried away the 800-foot Texas and Pacific Railway bridge, washed out a highway span south of the city, menaced the large highway bridge on U. S. highway 80 west, and threatened down two smaller spans north.

Colorado City, a town of 5,000 population, was threatened by backwaters which rushed into the city from the Colorado river.

Eight cars of fuel oil hauled on to the railway bridge to save the city from being cut off by the treacherous river when the bridge was washed out.

The Texas and Pacific westbound passenger train, two hours late in arriving at Colorado City, at 8:15 a. m. was held in the town after trainmen viewed water lapping two feet below the trestle. Fifteen minutes later the span collapsed.

Passenger trains, buses and private automobiles were stacked along the town. No loss of lives had been reported.

Water stood three and four feet deep on highways only three blocks from the business section but residents explained the water was merely backwash and did not carry sufficient force to be dangerous.

Colorado City braced for a further rise when the crest of the cloudburst-fed stream from Snyder, some 30 miles above, strikes the section. Water was as high as 12 feet deep on the highway west of Colorado City. The highway bridge on the road to San Angelo was washed away.

River Highest on Record

Residents said the Colorado was higher than it had ever been but were unable to estimate the depth. It still was about four feet above 50 houses were under water in the lowlands.

All highway traffic was halted in the area, as was rail traffic. A large oil refinery west of Colorado City was inundated.

At Snyder in Scurry county a flash flood drove 300 persons to the safety of high grounds last night, washed away four houses and the American Legion Hall, and was subsiding today.

There was no report of loss of life either at Colorado City or Snyder.

At Colorado City, a number of homes in the Mexican district were inundated. The high water carried a mass of cotton bales from a compress downstream, jammed them against the railroad bridge and the force of the water carried part of the structure away.

Robert T. Bridge, Red Cross disaster relief director at Abilene, left there early today for Snyder and Colorado City after receiving reports of serious flood damage was threatened. At Dallas, U. S. weather forecaster Jos. L. Cline said local conditions in West Texas which were producing heavy rain were continuing to worsen for at least 24 hours. He saw no prospect for heavy general rains in either east or west Texas, but said the local thunderstorms would likely continue.

River observers at Colorado City said apparently the first of the high water originating on the watershed in the vicinity of Snyder, approximately 80 miles north, had reached there.

Many houses in Snyder were washed from their foundations and others were badly damaged when water rose in them several feet.

A rainfall at Brownwood last night totaled 1.40 inches.

The weather bureau reported additional heavy local rains last night over parts of central and west Texas.

J. C. Smyth, editor of the Scurry County Times, said an all-night check revealed no basis for rumors of several missing persons there.

them at flood stage. The water began its swift upward surge at 5 p. m., Smyth said. By 7:30 it was so high city officials began sounding the fire alarm at regular intervals to warn residents of lowlands. The crest roared through town between 10:30 and 11, and the water has been slowly receding since.

Bridge Washed Away

The approach to a bridge on State Highway 15 was damaged, and another bridge was washed away. Deep creek, on the western boundary of the business district, rose two feet higher than it ever had before.

The crest roared through town between 10:30 and 11, and the water has been slowly receding since.

Many citizens said they were awakened by rushing of water through their yards, or by the fire alarm. They dressed hurriedly, took no time to salvage household goods and fled to high ground.

Smyth said only a few persons were actually homeless, and they were housed by relatives or friends. Part of the residential district was still cut off from the business section because of the damaged bridges.

Highway 70 between Roby and Sweetwater, U. S. 84 between Roscoe and Snyder, Highway 15 between Snyder and Gail and highway 129 between Rule and Old Gail were closed by overflows.

The state highway department reported at Abilene.

Robert T. Bridge, Red Cross disaster relief director, left Abilene early today for Snyder and Colorado City, where serious flood damage was reported.

Heavy rains since Sunday sent many secondary streams on flood in west, central and east Texas.

Interurban Service Disrupted

Interurban service south of Abilene, between Hillsboro and Waco, and halted movement for a time on the Texas and Pacific railway past Balld.

Highway was returning to normal on most highways which were covered by floodwaters yesterday. Between Dallas and Corsicana Highway 75 was reopened and interurban service had been resumed.

Water was as high as 12 feet deep on the highway west of Colorado City. The highway bridge on the road to San Angelo was washed away.

River Highest on Record

Residents said the Colorado was higher than it had ever been but were unable to estimate the depth. It still was about four feet above 50 houses were under water in the lowlands.

All highway traffic was halted in the area, as was rail traffic. A large oil refinery west of Colorado City was inundated.

At Snyder in Scurry county a flash flood drove 300 persons to the safety of high grounds last night, washed away four houses and the American Legion Hall, and was subsiding today.

There was no report of loss of life either at Colorado City or Snyder.

At Colorado City, a number of homes in the Mexican district were inundated. The high water carried a mass of cotton bales from a compress downstream, jammed them against the railroad bridge and the force of the water carried part of the structure away.

Robert T. Bridge, Red Cross disaster relief director at Abilene, left there early today for Snyder and Colorado City after receiving reports of serious flood damage was threatened. At Dallas, U. S. weather forecaster Jos. L. Cline said local conditions in West Texas which were producing heavy rain were continuing to worsen for at least 24 hours. He saw no prospect for heavy general rains in either east or west Texas, but said the local thunderstorms would likely continue.

River observers at Colorado City said apparently the first of the high water originating on the watershed in the vicinity of Snyder, approximately 80 miles north, had reached there.

Many houses in Snyder were washed from their foundations and others were badly damaged when water rose in them several feet.

Jim Ned creek near Brownwood—a principal tributary of the Colorado river approximately 150 miles downstream from Colorado City—was on a rise and water was flowing two and a half feet deep over the dam at Lake Brownwood.

A rainfall at Brownwood last night totaled 1.40 inches.

The weather bureau reported additional heavy local rains last night over parts of central and west Texas.

J. C. Smyth, editor of the Scurry County Times, said an all-night check revealed no basis for rumors of several missing persons there.

Cloudbursts on the watersheds of two creeks that virtually encircle the business district put them at flood stage. The water began its swift upward surge at 5 p. m., Smyth said. By 7:30 it was so high city officials began sounding the fire alarm at regular intervals to warn residents of lowlands. The crest roared through town between 10:30 and 11, and the water has been slowly receding since.

Bridge Washed Away

The approach to a bridge on State Highway 15 was damaged, and another bridge was washed away. Deep creek, on the western boundary of the business district, rose two feet higher than it ever had before.

The crest roared through town between 10:30 and 11, and the water has been slowly receding since.

TWO KNOWN DEAD, SEVERAL INJURED, MANY HOMELESS

RAINS STILL BESET WEST TEXAS; COLORADO RIVER SURGES GULFWARD

LUBBOCK, June 21.—(AP)—Rain still beat a dangerous patter today in West Texas, a section beset by high water and tornadoes that left two dead, several injured, hundreds homeless and heavy damage.

Locked in silence by impassable highways were several communities near here, battered by winds last night that killed W. H. Jackson as he sat in his Updike community farm home, 25 miles west of here. His wife was critically injured.

The mighty Colorado river, which pushed down railway and highway bridges in a surge near Colorado City, broke through at that point but spread out in wastelands on a vast country surge after taking a man's life at Snyder.

Crowell, near the southwestern corner of the state, was practically isolated by high water. Highway 16, running north and south, was under water on both sides of the town while the Hill country road was against the floor of the highway bridge between Quannah and Crowell.

Three sections of the Santa Fe railway bridge six miles northeast of Crowell washed out and three cars were swept off the Quannah highway but none of the occupants was injured.

Heavy rainfall ranging up to 10 inches and roads partially blocked with dead livestock and timber were reported to verify that the storm struck widespread Plains areas and to establish extent of damage and casualties in the known stricken areas.

Five persons were injured and at least half a dozen houses were leveled south of Shallowater, 12 miles northwest of here, and a third windstorm damaged numerous outbuildings and residences in the Big Bend area just over the Texas border.

Meanwhile the Colorado River receded rapidly at Colorado City, Tex., where two hundred Mexicans and thousands of Mexicans fled to ground yesterday when flood waters backed into the residence district up a normally small creek.

Traffic at Colorado City began to move on U. S. Highway 80 across a bridge whose approach had been under 10 feet of water and train passengers marooned when the railroad bridge washed out.

A large oil refinery west of Colorado City was inundated.

At Snyder in Scurry county a flash flood drove 300 persons to the safety of high grounds last night, washed away four houses and the American Legion Hall, and was subsiding today.

House Approves Plan to Revamp Its Own Rules

AUSTIN, June 21.—(AP)—On the final day of its long general session the house of representatives approved a plan to revamp the rules that have governed its actions in many a bitter fight.

By vote of 90 to 38 it adopted a resolution authorizing Speaker Emmett Moore to appoint a committee of six members to rewrite the rules and report to the next session.

Rep. Homer Leonard of Moore, who presented the resolution, said the rules were badly out of date and in many instances not being clear on "what can and cannot be done."

Apparently suspicious, some critics objected that the present rules were satisfactory, and all that was needed was living up to them.

Said Rep. Ross Hardin of Prairie Hill: "There has been too much back door planning already at this session."

HEAVY RAINS HALTED TRAFFIC AND SLOWED ACTIVITIES FOR DAY

SOME HIGHWAYS CLOSED FOR SHORT TIME; NO MATERIAL DAMAGE REPORTED

Corsicana and Navarro county was hit by a rain storm on Tuesday after the record-smashing downpour on Monday totaling 5.82 inches.

Highway 31 west to Dawson was the only major road reported closed Tuesday but here the waters of Richardson creek were over the floor of the highway.

Some observers in this section of the county predicted an additional rise on the stream late Tuesday or early Wednesday when floodwaters from the Hill country arrived. The concrete lateral to Roano was also reported still under water during the day.

Traffic on both highway 22 west and also west was halted for a time Monday but later resumed; however, travel to Dawson was stopped finally about midnight.

Travel over highway 75 north to Ennis was halted for about six hours Monday afternoon when floodwaters covered the Blar creek bridge for the first time in history. The waters were reported to have completely covered the concrete railings on either side of the bridge.

Considerable damage was done to recently built shoulders in the Blar and Chambers creek bottoms by the torrential rains.

A crew of rural electrification workmen were marooned for the night between Chambers and Blar creeks on the Roano road Monday when they found themselves cut off by floodwaters.

They were unable to make their way back to Roano because of Chambers Creek's quick rise.

An attempt by some Corsicana citizens to stage a barbecue in a flat just south of the city yesterday was also reported disrupted and even the food lost when flood waters routed them suddenly.

Rail traffic was reported proceeding on normal schedules Tuesday after brief interruptions late Monday occasioned by the Blar creek flareup.

Arrangements were completed by Corsicana citizens to stage their biennial "Emancipation Day" ceremonies at the Fairgrounds on Friday, after they were rained out Monday.

All members of the Corsicana Camp Fire group were camped at home Tuesday after enjoying an uncheduled extension of their stay at Camp Wanica.

Barbecue Lost

Some citizens were assisting in caring for the homeless both in Colorado City and Snyder.

No Major Ruins in Way

For 100 miles south of Colorado City there are no major towns in the path of the flood, the nearest being Robert Lee, a town of 600 about 60 miles south.

There the river was rising late yesterday and livestock warnings were issued but observers expected no extensive damage.

Officials of the Lower Colorado River Authority at Austin said river readings were being taken and preparations would be made to absorb the flood into Lake Eufaula.

Those injured in the Shallowater area storm were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Nipp and a year old daughter, G. W. Blackmon, about 45, Geraldine Trammell, 12.

Clarence Daniels said he, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Daniels, and a sister, Irene, 20, were sitting at their residence near Shallowater when the storm struck.

"We were just sitting on the floor with the rest of the house gone," he said. None of his family was injured.

Rains ranging from an inch upward, were reported in various parts of the South Plains. High water was reported north of Lubbock.

Hard Luck to Ranchers

SAN ANGELO, June 21.—(AP)—Long needed rains brought only hard luck to ranchers Findlater and Webb.

A flock of 300 of the firm's sheep was trapped in a ravine by a "flash flood." All drowned.

Pledges to YMCA

Being Renewed

The four division leaders of the recent YMCA modernization campaign, F. H. Harvey, F. A. Pierce, C. S. Dickens, and R. R. Brown, met with Beauford Jester, president of the board of directors, at the Navarro Hotel Wednesday to canvass the reports of the ratification workers.

WORST CHINATOWN FIRE IN YEARS IN NEW YORK DISTRICT

AT LEAST EIGHT LIVES AND WHOLE AREA MENACED BY EARLY MORNING FLAMES

NEW YORK, June 21.—(AP)—The worst Chinatown fire in 30 years raged through two teeming Doyler street tenements early today, taking at least eight lives and menacing the whole area of crowded outworn buildings.

Excited, chattering Chinese and white residents of the district, routed from their beds by the clatter of engines responding to four alarms and the screams and shouts of desperate men and women fleeing for their lives, jammed the crooked narrow streets for hours.

The firemen, who were joined by Mayor LaGuardia during the height of the fire, worked under extreme difficulties in the twisting streets. Four firemen were injured.

For half an hour after they had sighted a man clinging to a fire escape which threatened at any moment to fall, the firemen worked under a protective net of water to rescue the man. Eventually he was brought down, only to die later in a hospital.

The fierceness of the blaze and the rapidity with which it roared through the ancient wooden halls and dark cubicles of the tenements moved Mayor La Guardia to declare "Chinatown must go."

It also led to announcement by the district attorney's office that an investigation would be started immediately to determine responsibility for the fire.

Chinatown, only a few blocks from the city hall and the police center, lies just north of Brooklyn bridge at a point where the shabby bowery with its steaming crowded lodging houses and cheap dives stems off from Chatham Square.

Eleventh Birthday

Patsy Rene Murphey Observed At Party

KERENS, June 22.—(Sp.)—Mrs. Pat Murphey entertained Tuesday evening from 7:30 to 9:30 with a birthday party for her daughter, Patsy Rene, in celebration of her eleventh birthday.

Some twenty boys and girls assembled on the pretty lawn of the home and amused themselves with the old familiar childhood favorite games including, "Little White House on the Hill," "Knock," "Clap in, Clap Out," and others.

Punch and cookies were served by Mrs. Murphey and her sister, Mrs. A. L. Bain.

All then enjoyed seeing the gift packages unwrapped, and left wishing Patsy "many returns of the day."

Presbyterian Women Meet

KERENS, June 22.—(Sp.)—The Monday afternoon meeting of the women of the First Presbyterian church was held at the church at 3 p. m.

Opening song was, "Throw Out The Life Line."

Prayer—Mrs. Ben Miller. Reading of minutes of last meeting by the secretary, Mrs. Curtis.

Reports of all standing committees.

Program subject was "Philippine Islands," led by Mrs. D. B. Currie. Luke took up his devotion, Luke 18:1-8, and gave a most interesting talk on the work in the islands.

Song, "Faith of Our Fathers," was followed by special prayer by Minnie Young for the people of the islands.

Dismissal with Mizpah benediction.

CONNALLY HOT OIL ACT IS DECLARED BE MONOPOLISTIC

PENNSYLVANIA CONGRESSMAN SAYS SUN OIL PLANS CLOSE INDEPENDENTS

WASHINGTON, June 21.—(AP)—Representative Moser (D-Pa.), calling the Connally "hot oil" act monopolistic, told the house today the Sun Oil Company in Pennsylvania had openly threatened to close up independent dealers and "made good their threat within 30 days" after the act was passed.

"In 1935," said Moser, "gasoline was selling at the independent stations in my area as low as 12 cents a gallon. Immediately upon enactment of the Connally hot oil bill, John Pew, of the Sun Oil Company, sent his agents out to the independent stations threatening them, 'We have you licked and we are going to clean you out in a year; and if you do not take out your independent gas we are going to pull your pumps.'"

"They proceeded to pull their pumps at the American Oil Company," that locality took their place.

The house approved legislation yesterday extending for three years the act which prohibits interstate shipment of oil produced in violation of state conservation laws. The senate previously had voted to make the act permanent.

Moser said, "There was not a single instance where any of these independents were selling any gasoline from the great integrated oil companies at a price sufficient to low to sell as independent gasoline at the reduced price."

"The Sun Oil Company knew this, and in the gas war waged in Pottstown, Pa., at their exclusive Sun station, sold gasoline as low as 8 cents per gallon while at a similar exclusive station at Mount Reading, Pa., they retailed it gasoline at 14 cents per gallon."

Gladewater Planning

Rodeo For Holidays

GLADEWATER, June 22.—(Sp.)—A two day rodeo is scheduled for Gladewater July 3 and 4 at the huge Round-Up arena, beginning at 8 o'clock each evening. A fast two hour show is assured and will consist of ten performances including calf roping, saddle and bareback bronc riding, steer wrestling, wild Braham bull riding, wild cow milking, cowboy barrel race contested against time, special edited pony act and an exhibition by Trotwood, famous grey gelding roader in the Murray C. Sells stables, half brother to Greyhound, the fastest trotting horse of all time, according to Jack Yates in charge of the program.

Comments of Burke and Van Nuy

Van Nuy told reporters a third term "would violate one of the best traditions of our country," and announced his support of Roosevelt's re-election nomination.

(McNitt said at Honolulu Sunday that he would not run if Roosevelt sought re-election, but would back the president instead.)

The comments of Burke and Van Nuy threw into sharp relief the differences of opinion within the democratic party over a third term for Mr. Roosevelt, who has given no clue as to his own views. Secretary Ickes recently took the lead among advocates of the president's re-election, in a magazine article calling the two-term tradition "political humbug."

Mrs. J. W. McCammon Hostess Wednesday Sewing Club Members

Mrs. J. W. McCammon as hostess to the Wednesday Sewing Club, entertained the members at a picnic lunch at noon, were joined in the afternoon by four more members, and before time for departure, Mrs. McCammon served ice cream and angel food cake to her guests.

Colorful garden flowers added much to the attractive setting of this delightful summer resort, and all had a most delightful time. Mrs. Gerald McCullough will be hostess to the club next week.

Former Wortham Girl

Will Wed Virginian New Orleans Sunday

WORTHAM, June 27.—(Sp.)—Miss Martha Louise Chancellor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Chancellor, formerly of Wortham, but now of New Orleans, and Dr. Harold Radcliff, son of Dr. and Mrs. Radcliff of Virginia, will be married in New Orleans Sunday morning, June 25, at eight o'clock.

The wedding will take place in the Prythian Presbyterian church with the Rev. M. Alexander as officiating clergyman.

HEALTH, BEAUTY AND POISE

HOW TO IMPROVE YOUR PERSONALITY
By VERONICA DENGEL

VERY PERSONAL GROOMING

Underarm grooming is a "must" for the meticulous girl of today. No longer is it good taste to overlook the removal of superfluous hair. There are several ways of doing this. You may prefer to use one of the many excellent preparations for this purpose, or to use a safety razor. In this Veronica Dengel connects it on, I must tell you about the little razor that was sent to me the other day. No bigger than the nail on my little finger, and with a miniature handle, it is perfectly efficient, and really does a thoroughly satisfactory job. It comes apart and packs into a little flat case no larger than a route compact. Perfectly marvelous for weekends.

However, you do it—do keep the underarms clear.

And of course, you will be most careful to protect yourself against perspiration odors. Regardless whether or not you perspire little or much, there is a definite odor to all perspiration. There has to be—because perspiration is the means—or one of the means—by which the body throws off its poisons. Especially in Summer, in addition to your twice-a-day bathing with soap and water, it is most wise to use a deodorant. These lotions are so perfectly made today that there is no danger in their use even though the skin is most sensitive.

As for those preparations which check perspiration, that becomes a matter for individual decision. If you perspire rather freely, it might be best to protect your clothes with shields, and simply use the deodorant. These lotions tend to check perspiration to a mild degree. When the perspiration is stopped at one point, it will be thrown off by the other pores—and frequently damp hands are the result of checking free perspiration. Since this would be even more unpleasant, you must decide for yourself.

However, if you perspire only slightly, it is usually more convenient to do without the shields, and simply use the "check" under the arms.

And, by the way, if you do perspire very freely—and if there is a strong odor to this perspiration—then your system is more toxic than it should be, and you must certainly check on your food intake. No doubt you are eating too much meat and fish; and too many pieces of pastry and bread. Do eat more fruits and vegetables; take more milk and eggs; watch your eliminations; and suddenly you will notice a marked improvement in your general condition.

WALT MASON DIED IN CALIFORNIA HOME THURSDAY MORNING

WIDELY KNOWN FOR HIS HOMELY RHYMES

SAN DIEGO, Calif., June 22.—(P)—Walt Mason, 77, humorist and poet, died early today in his home in suburban La Jolla after an illness of several weeks.

Mason was a native of Columbus, Ont., and came to the United States in 1880. That same year he was launched on his newspaper career when he got a job of kicking a job press in St. Louis.

The poet's newspaper experience included jobs on the Atchison Bluffs, Lincoln, Neb., State Journal and Emporia Gazette. His poems were published by 200 newspapers in the United States and Canada.

Walt Mason was one of the poets who was both born and made. He was the fifth of six sons of a Welsh father and a Scotch mother, a combination which gave him stability spiced by a nimble wit.

The "Poet laureate of common sense," as he became known, was four years old when his father, a dyer in a woolen mill, was accidentally killed and was fifteen when his mother died.

Hearing Defective

Thrown on his own resources Walt became a manual laborer. When he was thirteen he narrowly escaped from drowning left him with defective hearing. The mishap had a great influence on Mason's future, for with some of the world's shutoff from him his power of observation became keener and he turned within himself for much of the music his partial deafness kept from him in the world without. This he reproduced in his "rapping rhymes," the prose poetry which made him known virtually wherever newspapers are read.

"It is probably due to this," he once said in reference to his deafness, "that I never became a merchant prince."

In failing to become a merchant prince the prose-poet achieved in his later life a position that put him on equal terms with them. A series of experiences was in store for him that brought him into touch with life in all its phases.

Born in Columbus, Ontario, May 4, 1862, he left his boyhood home in 1888 and went to New York state and took a job as a farm hand. He referred to it as "the poorest fun I ever had."

It was so good a fact, that he soon tired of it and took Horace Greeley's advice. St. Louis was west in those days and it was there that he took his first newspaper job. He went to work on a weekly humorous publication known as "The Hornet."

On Emporia Gazette

From "The Hornet" he went into newspaper work in Kansas. He held positions on several middle western newspapers and finally went to Emporia, Kansas, where he got a job on William Allen White's Gazette. It was there, under the friendly tutelage of White, that he began to give the world his prose poems and became known as "Uncle Walt."

White told Mason he was wasting his time by not selling his rhymes. He thought so well of them that he sent some of them to George Matthew Adams, head of a syndicate, accompanied by a letter. Adams saw the beauty and appeal in them and tried them out. They went well and Adams and Mason soon became close personal friends as a result.

Three of Mason's poems have achieved world wide notice. They are "The Little Green Tent," "The Journey" and "The Eyes of Lincoln."

Another great influence in Mason's life was his wife. In 1893 he married Ella Foss at Wooster, Ohio. They adopted a daughter, Mary.

On his intellectual side Mason was self educated. He got his knowledge of the world direct rather than from books. His experiences took him among all sorts of people, from the finest hotels to the lowest hovels. He had ridden in Pullmans and walked the ties, the latter because he had to. His poems reflected his knowledge of and sympathy with the average American in all his vicissitudes.

George Ade referred to him as "The high priest of horse sense."

Speaking of his schooling, Mason said he simply could not learn a lot of things which his teachers thought highly essential to getting on in the world. One of those things was arithmetic. It was his confession that he would rather walk ten miles than add up a column of figures, and he hated to walk. His geography teacher used to sit on the floor and wring his whiskers in exasperation at Walt's inability to master the location of continents and things.

One thing Walt did like was his school readers. In them he found poems and essays, especially poems. His favorite was Gray's "Elegy." Until his last days the poem gripped him and he knew it by heart. He was all the time repeating verses of it, especially before retiring.

Mason's own poetry came naturally. He would sit down to write and out it would come in rhyme as easily as in prose, easier in fact, after he acquired more agility. He frequently wrote news in rhyme and headlines also. He once transcribed a legal paper in rhyme just to show it could be done.

The rippling rhymster had a large and appreciative audience. The daily prose poems were syndicated to scores of papers and brought him not only a large income but thousands of letters from all over. He said:

"I received the finest letters in the world and thousands of them. I have a happy family, loyal friends, generous employers, a good car and a standstill at the filling station—and what more could an old man ask?"

The Masons moved from Emporia to La Jolla, Calif., in 1921. Sitting in his little villa within sight of the sea he sent out his little daily couriers of joy to the world with which, despite the way it treated him in his youth, he was at peace.

TEXANS URGED TO GET VACCINATION AGAINST TYPHOID

COORDINATED CAMPAIGN AGAINST DISEASE SPONSORED BY HEALTH OFFICIALS

AUSTIN, June 22.—(Spl.)—If you have not been vaccinated against typhoid fever within the last two to three years, go to your family physician and have him give you the three "shots" that will protect you against that disease.

This advice comes from the Texas State Health Department, and is addressed particularly to those persons planning vacations away from home or those who regularly go on camping, fishing or such trips.

Typhoid is contracted by way of the mouth. Each case comes directly or indirectly from some previous case. You eat or drink the germs that cause the disease, in food, water or milk contaminated by the discharges from persons who are ill with the disease or who have had it at some time.

Modern medical and public health practices have greatly reduced the occurrence of typhoid, but it is still a menace to those unprotected against the disease. Protection of public water supplies from pollution, pasteurization of milk, inspection and supervision of food supplies, improvement in household sanitation and hygienic habits, better sewage disposal and careful investigation of typhoid outbreaks to determine the source of the disease are measures which have contributed to the diminution of the incidence of typhoid in Texas. But there are still sources of infection to which individuals are exposed, that cannot be reached by public measures, and for which vaccination affords additional protection.

Persons who are apparently well, but who have had the disease at some time, may continue to discharge the typhoid germs. Such persons are known as "carriers" and if they are not careful in their personal habits they are liable to contaminate any food they touch. Flies carry germs from contaminated sources to food, and are another source of typhoid infection.

Health departments, state, city and county, are waging constant warfare against typhoid all the year. Special efforts are made during the vacation period through the sanitary supervision of summer camps, parks, and public eating places to reduce any possible danger of vacation typhoid from such sources. But vaccination and sanitation are the only means to personal safety against the disease. So see your physician today for a vaccination and summer unmarred by typhoid.

Man Is Announced

RICE, June 22.—(Spl.)—Mrs. Lucian Lockhart was hostess for a luncheon at her home in Tupelo Tuesday, June 13, announcing the marriage of her daughter, Mary Mel, on June 18, to Benjamin Bartlett of Rodessa, La.

The home was attractively decorated with garden flowers. Guests were Mrs. B. C. Bartlett, Sr., Mrs. A. D. Ellis, Rice; Mrs. S. C. Bell, Corsicana; Mrs. C. G. Boucher, and Mrs. D. A. Morgan of Dallas.

Wesley Harris And Julia Ben Majors Married In Dallas

The following account of the marriage of Wesley Harris of Dallas, a former Corsicanan and Miss Julia Ben Majors, taken from Wednesday's Dallas News will be read with much interest by Wesley's many Corsicanan friends and friends of the W. W. Harris family.

Miss Julia Ben Majors became the bride of William Wesley Harris of 8:30 p. m. Tuesday at the Highland Park Methodist church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Majors, 3300 St. John's drive, and Mr. Harris is the son of W. W. Harris and the late Mrs. Ruth Miller Harris of Corsicana and Jefferson.

The Rev. Karl Troke, New Orleans, La., assisted by the Rev. Durwood Fleming, performed the ceremony. The altar was banked with woodwardia fern and was decorated with a large arrangement of pink and white larkspur and gladioli. Smaller arrangements of the flowers were placed on each side of the altar and white tapers burned in candelabra.

The wedding music was given by Mrs. Ellis W. Schuler, organist and Henry King, vocalist. Miss Elizabeth Harris, Corsicana, a sister of the bride, sang the wedding song, "The Wedding Song," and the bride sang "The Wedding Song."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white tulle, with a fitted bodice and a full redingote skirt that extended into a long train. The redingote effect in front revealed a petticoat of pleated lace, edged with ruffles. The short puffed sleeves also had pleated lace ruffles. She wore long lace gloves. Her long veil of cream bridal illusion was attached to a headpiece of the Mary Queen of Scots period. She carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley tied with tulle. Her only jewelry was a cameo necklace grandmother.

Miss Lucille Blair, Bartlett, was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Marguerite Roberts, Miss Elizabeth MacLay, Miss Helen Chadwick, Commerce, and Mrs. E. T. Crim, Greenville. The maid of honor wore a dress of Elizabeth and the bridesmaids were gowned in petal pink. The dresses were of lace and net fastened with deep square necklines, puffed sleeves and full skirts of net and lace insertion. They wore large horsehair braid hats trimmed with violets and velvet ribbon. They carried nosegays of pink ostrich feather holders. They wore cameo lockets the gift of the bride.

Out-of-Town Guests Feted.

A reception for the out-of-town guests was held at the home of the bride's parents, Miss Roberta Templeton, Colton, Calif., a cousin of the bride, presided at the three-tiered wedding cake. Miss Mary Lula Williams and Miss Christine Everett had charge of the bride's bouquet. The table was centered with a large mirror edged with crystal leaved chairs, on which two bouquets of white sweet peas and gladioli encircled with tulle and white satin were arranged.

After a wedding trip to New Mexico and Colorado Mr. and Mrs. Harris will make their home in Dallas.

The bride attended Baylor University and received the Bachelor of Arts Degree from SMU in June. She is a member of Sigma Kappa Sorority.

Mr. Harris attended ETSTC at Commerce and was graduated from SMU. He is a member of Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

Corsicanan relatives attending the wedding were Mrs. S. D. Whitten, Mrs. Wesley Miller, Mrs. Tom Harris, Miss Callie Harris, Miss Elizabeth Harris and W. W. Harris.

SCHOOL TAXES FOR BLOOMING GROVE BE UNDER COUNTY PLAN

BLOOMING GROVE, June 22.—(Spl.)—The Blooming Grove school board at their regular meeting last Monday night employed the county tax collector to assess and collect the school taxes. This means that the renditions of lands and properties located within the Blooming Grove school district will have to be same as the state and county renditions and therefore will be a substantial reduction in the values as they are now assessed by the school assessor. All equalizing will be done by the commissioners court. This act becomes effective on the 1939 school taxes.

All delinquent taxes will still be paid in Blooming Grove, but current taxes will be paid at the courthouse in Corsicana. This goal has been worked toward for the past several years and has now become a reality.

Summer Revival of Kerens Baptists Is Now Under Way

KERENS, June 22.—(Spl.)—The summer revival of the First Baptist church, held in the City Tabernacle, began Sunday, June 18th, to continue for two weeks.

Rev. Jessie Yalvington, evangelist of Austin, is conducting the services, with Rev. A. J. Turner, pulpit supply, directing the choir. Large crowds are present at each service, to hear the heart-warming sermons of the eloquent speaker.

In Loving Memory of my father, R. N. Rogers

Dearest Dad:

Today is Father's Day and with letters, telegrams and gifts, Dads everywhere will be remembered. Some dads will have their children with them, others will be too far away. As I can't come to you this year, I'm writing to say:

Some folks say that you are gone, But Dad, you and I know they are wrong.

When life is hard and I am blue, I sit right down and talk to you. I close my eyes, your face appears, Your steady voice soon dries my tears.

How can they say that you are gone? When I, flesh of your flesh, live on.

My brothers, men who bear your name, Living, fighting, playing the game. Following your footsteps firm and true.

Striving to be sons worthy of you. Wherever I look, I see you there. Your picture on the table, your favorite chair.

And there stands the tree, planted by your hand, Living, growing steadily, enriching the land.

How can they say that you are gone, When all these "parts of you" live on?

It's of men like you that we can say, The world is better, because he passed this way.

As usual, I'm sending you a telegram too. It's addressed to God; but he will read it to you. Dear God take good care of him and keep him happy, too. Our Dad needs a rest and we're glad he's there with you. My gift this year, Dear Dad—mine, I'm sure has reached you by this time. It's a heart of remembrance and love so true, and THANKFULNESS for a Dad like you!

Love,
—Mary Elizabeth.

SUCCESSFUL DAILY VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL CLOSED

A most successful ten-day daily vacation Bible school was brought to a close at the First Methodist church Wednesday. The closing day was visiting day with parents of those who had attended the school as guests.

An inspection was made of the results of the school and light refreshments were served. The attendance remained good and interest was high. One session was rained out.

The school was for the children's division of the Sunday school and the program consisted of Bible study, play and manual work.

HARDWARE MAN WAS VICTIM ACCIDENTAL SHOT WEDNESDAY

GLADEWATER, June 22.—A coroner's verdict of accidental death was returned Wednesday by Earl Zullock, justice of peace, in the death of Norbert C. Phillips, 40, found dead of a bullet wound in the heart and lungs an hour after he had told others in the hardware store he managed he was taking a gun to a warehouse to kill rats.

Investigation brought out that he must have been struck by a bullet from the rifle when a stack of wallboard slid to the floor with Phillips on top. His body was found by his nephew, Reuben Phillips, 16.

Funeral services were set for Thursday at the First Baptist church, with Dr. G. E. Ellis officiating. Burial will be in Rosedale cemetery here.

Surviving are his wife, who bore their marriage two years ago was Lella DuBois of Corsicana; his mother, Mrs. Lulla Phillips; two brothers, Reuel and Lyman, and two sisters, Mrs. Eddy Sells of Gladewater and Mrs. J. R. Stovall of Abilene.

Phillips was a brother-in-law of Fred DuBois, circulation manager of the Sun-Light papers, and he and Mrs. DuBois and other Corsicanan and Navarro county relatives attended the funeral.

Coal On Display

CHEYENNE, Wyo., June 22.—(P)—A 3,400 pound lump of coal from a Kemmerer, Wyo., mine rested on the Wyoming capitol sidewalk today to remind visitors of a principal Wyoming resource. Kemmerer Lions Club members brought the coal here.
